Wolfson After Montgomery Ward Control

Florida Industrialist Rips Sewell Avery's Conservative Policy

NEW YORK (AP)—The forces of Florida industrialist Louis E. Wolfson squared away today for a pitched financial battle to oust the conservative management of Sewell L. Avery from giant Montgomery Ward & Co.

"We believe we now hold the largest block of shares in the company," the 42-year-old Wolfson told a news conference here yesterday. "Our continuing investment in Montgomery Ward stock, candidly, has been with the intention to strengthen our position in the company with a view to superseding the present management."

Declines Comment

Avery, the 80-year-old chairman of the board of the 700-million-dollar mail order and retail empire, declined immediate comment in Chicago.

Wolfson's interest in Montgomery Ward became known publicly only a week ago. Until the news conference he had refused to state why he and his associates had accumulated large holdings of stock.

Wolfson, a slim, tanned man with black, curly hair, said:

"I don't want to disclose the type attack we will use. We haven't crystallized any definite plans on how to approach the situation except to do everything necessary to go into a proxy fight. If we go into a proxy fight, it will be dignified."

Wolfson's first opportunity to take a hand in management will come at the company's annual meeting next April. However, there is a problem there: Only three directors will be chosen for the nine-man board. One of those up for re-election, however, will be Avery.

Stock Recently Acquired

Wolfson and his associates, whom he did not name, bought most of their stock this year, he disclosed.

Avery holds 64,336 sares of the outstanding 6,700,000 voting shares.

Wolfson based his attack on Avery on the chairman's conservative policies. Believing a recession was due, Avery built up the firm's liquid assets after World War II, accumulating 300 million dollars at the expense of expansion. Meanwhile, sales of its chief competitor, Sears Roebuck & Co., have soared.

"The Montgomery Ward management," Wolfson said, "has blindly and obstinately hitched the company's future to a depression. This has been called eccentric, but actually it has been a disastrous disservice to the stockholders of the company."

Wolfson once was a Florida junk dealer. He has gained control of corporations with assets of more than 200 million dollars in the past few years. His annual income is estimated at around half a million dollars.

Shovel Begins Redemption of Preferred Stock

Marion Power Shovel Company was to mail notice today, calling its preferred stock for redemption, John P. Courtright, president, announced today.

The call involves 13,000 shares for which the holders will receive $125 plus a $1.75 quarterly dividend, or a total of $116.75 per share. The redemption date is Oct. 1 when the third quarterly dividend is due.

This action by Marion clears the way for Merritt-Chapman & Scott, one of the world's largest contruction and marine salvage organizations, to proceed with its plan to acquire a majority interest in Marion Power Shovel Co. and its subsidiary, Osgood-General.

Louis E. Wolfson, who is heading a group attempting to gain control of the Montgomery-Ward Co. is also chairman and president of Merritt-Chapman & Scott Co.

Search Continues

Galion Mother, Daughter Hurt in Attempted Attack

GALION — Law enforcement officers in this area continued the search today for an 18 or 19-year-old, blond-haired youth who stabbed a 25-year-old mother and her five-year-old daughter in an attempted attack at their home near here yesterday.

Mrs. Doris Knipp, wife of Wilbur W. Knipp, and daughter, Linda, are in Galion City Hospital with stab wounds in the chest and back. Mrs. Knipp also has a head injury where the intruder hit her with the butt of a revolver he carried.

CRAWFORD COUNTY Sheriff E. F. Jacobs said the attempted attack took place about 10:30 a.m. yesterday at the Knipp home on the Dice Road, southwest of Galion. Mrs. Knipp related that the young, goodlooking assailant came to her kitchen door yesterday morning, forced his way in and ordered her to undress in the living room. He carried a gun and warned both mother and daughter not to cry out. When the child started to whimper, he attempted to choke her. Mrs. Knipp grabbed a butcher knife to defend her child and the assailant stabbed her and her daughter with a paring knife which he had picked up in the kitchen. He then fled from the house. Another daughter, seven-month-old Sharon, was unmolested as she slept in a crib nearby.

Mrs. Knipp ran screaming into the back yard and neighbors called the sheriff.

A posse of 40 farmers and Galion citizens together with the Crawford sheriff's force and Galion policemen armed with shotguns combed a nearby woods until last night but failed to find the youth.

A neighbor, Mrs. Charles Hubbard, who resides about one-fourth of a mile from the Knipp home, told sheriff's officials that the youth had come to her home earlier in the morning. She said he told her his car had "broken down" and that he was "no mechanic." He wanted to know if her husband was at home. He then left the Hubbard house and walked down the road toward the Knipp residence.

A FEW MINUTES later Mrs. Hubbard said she saw that he had turned around and was walking back. She and another neighbor woman became suspicious and phoned the Crawford sheriff who sent out a car. When Mrs. Knipp ran out of her house screaming after the attempted attack, neighbors hailed the passing sheriff's car.

Mrs. Knipp said the youth was clad in blue jeans and what appeared to be a T-shirt with blue stripes across the shoulders. She said he was about her height, five feet seven inches tall, and had blond curly hair. She said he was about 18 or 19 years old, good-looking and "clean-cut." She said he wore blue gloves.

It was thought at first that Mrs. Knipp had succeeded in stabbing the assailant when officials found a trail of blood leading from the back door of the house. Later they determined that the blood was from Mrs. Knipp's stab wounds.

Witnesses Tell How Reds Took Over Hungary

CLEVELAND (AP) — Eight more witnesses come before a House subcommittee on Communist aggression today to add their stories to testimony that rape, beatings and book-burnings attended the Reds' postwar seizure of control in Hungary.

In an ornate federal courtroom, Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Mich), subcommittee chairman, and Rep. Michael A. Feighan, Cleveland Democrat, listened yesterday while seven persons recalled painful memories of atrocities, persecution and deception.

The Soviets had planned the postwar government of Hungary even before that nation surrendered in World War II, Dr. Geza Teleki told the subcommittee yesterday. He spoke of his fight as minister of education to keep the Russians from dominating Hungary's schools.

The 43-year-old Teleki, now a professor of political geography at the University of Virginia, said he was one of three patriots who sneaked through Gestapo lines to petition to Allied forces in Moscow for surrender. Once there, he said, the three had no choice but to sign an agreement offered them by Foreign Minister Molotov.

Even before the Russians took over they began "loading the universities" with Communists and fellow travellers, Teleki said. He told of a plot to "infect the tools of doctors" so patients died from infection and the ensuing Red-inspired public indignation "destroyed some of the finest doctors at the University of Budapest."

FORMER JUDGE DIES

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Former Probate Judge Charles J. Anderson, 76, died here yesterday at his home. He was judge eight years and served two years as state senator from Shelby.

4-Day Search Ends

Body of Marion Father Is Recovered From River

The body of a third member of a Marion family drowned in the Ohio River at Steubenvile Thursday afternoon was found by searchers late Thursday.

Finding of the body of Arnold Bumgarner, 36, of 186 Sharp St, brought an end to the search which began after he and two sons were drowned when their boat overturned.

The bodies of the two sons, Harold Leroy, 16, and James Willard, 14, were found Thursday morning floating near the spot where the boat capsized two days previously. Arnold's body was found shortly before 4 p.m. after it had risen to the surface near the same location.

The trio had been on a pleasure cruise in a 12-foot boat equipped with an outboard motor when the boat capsized. The three, all fully clothed, started swimming for the Ohio shore and were pulled under by a strong current. Witnesses to the tragedy reported that the wake from a large towboat threw the small craft out of control and indirectly caused it to overturn.

Arnold Dean Bumgarner, 36, was born Nov. 13, 1917 at Morral to Mr. and Mrs. Dean Bumgarner, now of 383 Leader St.

A salesman for the Nickles Bakery, he and his family were members of the Wesley Methodist Church. Married to the former Margaret Elizabeth Palmer, Dec.

Row Over EDC Threatens To Topple French Cabinet

Nationalists' Island Hit by Red Raiders

Attack Near Formosa Seen as Skirmish, Not Beginning of Invasion

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China today announced a small-scale hit-and-run raid on Quemoy, a Nationalist-held offshore island. There was no indication that it was a prelude to the Reds' loudly heralded threat of invasion of Formosa.

A Peiping radio broadcast said 40 Communist soldiers made two separate landings on Quemoy Monday night, killing 11 Nationalist soldiers before pulling back to the mainland 15 miles away.

Nationalist sources in Taipeh said the raid was one of several staged by the Reds in recent weeks to capture prisoners. They said one Nationalist soldier was captured and the Reds lost one man taken prisoner.

Labeled 'Skirmish'

U.S. officials in Washington labeled the raid no more than a skirmish and pointed out that even the conquest of Quemoy would leave the Reds far from their goal of "liberating" Formosa.

The Nationalist stronghold lies 100 miles across the Formosa Strait, guarded by the U.S. 7th Fleet and an American-equipped army.

For several weeks Peiping has been broadcasting almost daily threats to "liberate" Formosa and wipe out the Nationalist regime of Chiang Kai-shek.

In advance of any invasion, the Reds would be expected to seize a chain of Nationalist-held offshore islands running from Quemoy north to the Tachens, some 200 miles northwest of Formosa.

Attack Discounted

However, U.S. military experts have discounted the possibility of a Red attack on Formosa and have pointed out that there has been no large-scale Red troop buildup along the coast opposite the Nationalist island.

U.S. sources in Tokyo said today they regarded the Quemoy attack and recent threats to invade Formosa as a propaganda campaign aimed at the forthcoming Manila conference to map a Southeast Asia security agreement.

These sources said the Reds are trying to show conference participants that the United States will go to war over Formosa and the signers of any defense pact would be giving up any initiative in the matter.

Ike Trades Pen For Trout Rod

Puts Off Signing Bills For Day on Stream

DENVER (AP) — President Eisenhower is taking today off from government chores to get in the first trout fishing of his work-and- play vacation.

The President arranged for an early start on a 40-mile drive to Pine, Colo., southwest of Denver. The stream there is a South Platte River fork which meanders through the Rocky Mountain ranch of an Eisenhower friend, Bal F. Swan.

The chief executive fished three times at Swan's place during his Colorado vacation last summer. He also used to try his luck there occasionally when he was in the Army.

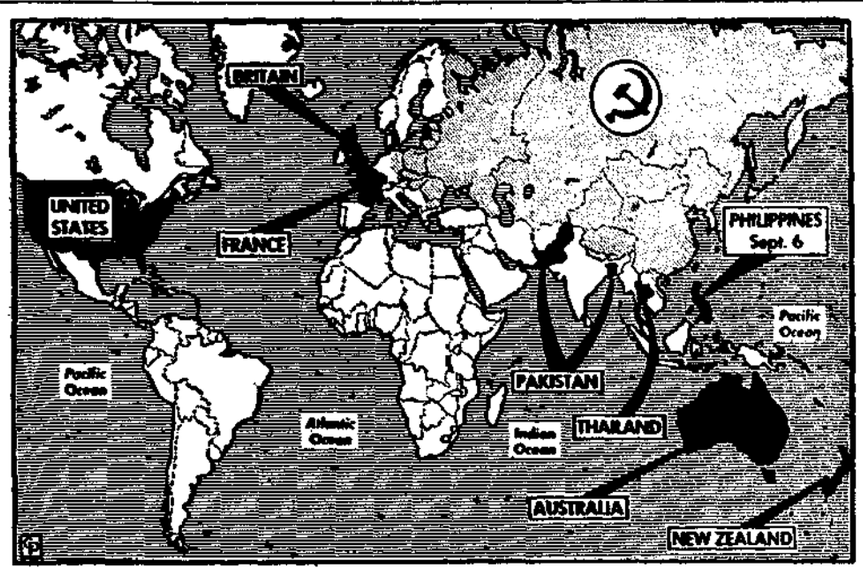
Contractor Seeks Sale of OES Home

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP) — Sheriff's sale of a newly-built but never occupied home for aged members of the Grand Chapter of Ohio, Order of Eastern Star, is asked in a suit filed in Knox County Common Pleas Court by Bussey and Moore, Cleveland contractors.

The petition claims a $34,948.89 lien against the home, which stands on a 60-acre tract a mile east of Mount Vernon on Ohio 229.

The home was started in 1951 and completed a year ago, but has never been occupied.

Bussey and Moore claim the OES breached its contract in 1952 "to undertake completion of the home on its own specifications."



U.S. PLANS ALL-OUT DRIVE FOR NEW ALLIANCE. The United States is mustering its top diplomatic talent for an all-out drive to win an alliance for defense of southeast Asia at a conference of eight nations (black) opening Sept. 6 in Manila, the Philippines. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will head the American delegation. Prime Minister Nehru of India will not be at the conference. He believes a new atmosphere of peace has come in the wake of the Indochina truce and fears the meeting will upset this atmosphere.

World Clergy Begins Study of Non-Christians

Delegates to Assembly Hear Suggestions on Promoting Evangelism

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Christian leaders today turned to a dicussion of their great, centuries-old, unfinished task — carrying the Gospel to millions of non-Christians.

Delegates to the Assembly of the World Council of Churches gathered to hear a report by the Committee on Evangelism.

Drafters of the report have heard many suggestions for increasing the number of Christians, who still are a minority in the world as a whole.

Leading Proposals

Among the ideas placed before them were these:

Messages and methods should be directed more to workers, particularly in Asia and other areas where the Communists are trying to recruit them.

Laymen, including writers of widely circulated copy, should play a larger part in spreading the faith.

Effective use should be made of the media of mass communication — movies, radio, television, newspapers, magazines, books — in this era of competition for access to the minds of men.

51-Page Report Filed

The delegates realize Christian evangelists face a challenging task. They have been told that, despite their gains, the earth's total population is growing faster than the Christian population.

Evangelism is one of the subthemes of the meeting of representatives of 183 denominations from 48 countries.

The main theme is "Christ—the Hope of the World."

A 51-page report on that subject

Briton Suggests Fuller Practice Of Christianity

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Christianity has been staying home from work.

So said leaders of the faith today as they mapped means for putting their religion on a seven-day week.

Too long, said Dr. Athleen Bliss of Kent, England, has Christianity got up and around only on Sundays and kept to the house the rest of the time.

The church, she said, "must also see daily work" — in business, industry and professions — "as a field of service to God."

Dr. Bliss, of the Church of England, is chairman of a 100-member committee of the World Council of Churches Assembly which presents its report on Christian obligations of laymen today.

She said that the church in modern times has emphasized home and family life, but not men's occupations, as its realm of activity.

"This is probably why there are more women than men in the average congregation," she said. "There has been no application of Cristianity to work a man does five days a week."

Salute to Youth Marks Start of Ohio State Fair

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's 100th state fair opened here today with a bow to the state's youth.

Youth Day was celebrated as thousands of spectators gathered at the fairgrounds. Ohio school pupils were admitted free.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche was expected to turn the first spadeful of soil for the new million dollar youth center. When completed, it will house 1,200 junior fair enthusiasts who compete and participate in the 1955 fair.

A dozen girls at six information booths located throughout the 150-acre grounds will be on duty 12 hours a day.

They'll help direct visitors through the enormous plaza of livestock and produce exhibit, the midway, grandstand and smaller concessions.

The first group of blue ribbons today will go to exhibitors who show the finest watermelons, honey, tomatoes and sweet corn.

Integrity Vital To U.S., Grads At OSU Hear

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Production of men of integrity is possibly the crucial problem of the day, an Ohio school administrator declared at Ohio State University's summer quarter commencement today.

The speaker, Dr. Claude V. Courter, supeprintendent of Cincinnati public schools, addressed 693 graduates. He said:

"We live in a time when, if we are to survive as a people and preserve our way of life, our chief concern must be with strength—strength of body, of mind, of spirit . . ."

It is the privilege of educational institutions, Dr. Courter said, "to contribute to our strength as a people by training and releasing to our society not only men and women of capacity and ability, but at least of equal importance, men and women of integrity . . .

". . . That men of complete integrity are produced in a goodly number is quite possibly the crucial issue of the day."

Financial Post In Brazil Goes To Economist

Gudin Says First Job Will Be Problems in Exporting of Coffee

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Eugenio Gudin, head of the Brazilian Institute of Economics, was sworn in as Brazil's new finance minister last night to steer the nation through its serious economic crisis.

The 68-year-old economist said his first concern would be the coffee situation. Declining exports of this main Brazilian product have caused a severe foreign exchange shortage.

Gudin promised also to do his best to stabilize prices and curb state expenses in an effort to halt growing inflation.

President Joao Cafe Filho appointed Gudin yesterday to replace Oswaldo Aranha, who resigned this week with the rest of the Cabinet of ex-President Getulio Vargas after Vargas killed himself.

The new finance minister has been connected with American and British cultural institutions and has written a number of books on economics. He was president of the Brazil-United States Institute in 1941. In 1944, he was the Brazilian delegate to the Bretton Woods world financial conference.

He faces a tough job in doctoring Brazil's economic ills. The country has had to borrow 80 million dollars from the U. S. Federal Reserve Bank, putting up national gold reserves as collateral. The loan falls due on Oct. 23. The treasury also owes the Export-Import Bank 200 million dollars.

Provoo Conviction Upset By U.S. Appeals Court

NEW YORK (AP)—The U.S Court of Appeals today reversed the treason conviction and life sentence given former Army Staff Sgt. John David Provoo.

The court said Provoo should not have been tried in New York, and also the government had no right to cross examine him on a collateral issue of homosexuality.

Provoo, a former San Francisco bank clerk, was convicted of aiding the Japanese after the fall of Corregidor in the Philippines.

Coty Hurries Back to Paris For Parleys

Showdown Expected Tomorrow as Debate Begins in Assembly

PARIS (AP)—President Rene Coty hustled back from a vacation today to preside over a full dress Cabinet meeting just 24 hours before the French National Assembly takes up ratification of the European Defense Community treaty.

The deputies themselves, facing the showdown on EDC they had put off for 27 months, were in a turmoil of political intrigue that could end in the downfall of the two-month-old regime of Premier Pierre Mendes-France.

Major Issue

The Assembly was in session over Tunisian and Moroccan problems, but most of the deputies were talking about EDC and the government's future.

Coty returned on the urging of former Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, a champion of EDC and bitter foe of the present government. Bidault urged that a full discussion be held on possible future policies before anything final is done to reject EDC.

These were among the day's top developments

1. The Assembly of the French Union, the top consultative body for France and her overseas territories, recommended by a vote of 100-65 that France reject the six-nation European army plan envisaged under EDC. While this had no legal weight, the vote was another indication that EDC will have tough going in the National Assembly.

2. A group of pro-European army ministers who had been under heavy pressure to resign immediately decided to stay on a while longer, at least until after the EDC vote. They feared the pro-EDC elements in the Assembly would have no voice if the ministers resigned now.

Big Conference Likely

3. The Foreign Office announced Communist Poland had offered France an alliance against Germany. A spokesman said the proposal—obviously timed to affect the EDC debate—would be rejected. Russia and her satellites have been working desperately to defeat EDC.

(In New York, the Times and Herald-Tribune, in Washington dispatches, said that an eight-power

Man Killed, 5 Hurt in Auto Crash on Rt. 23

BULLETIN

One man was killed almost instantly and five other persons were hospitalized in a three-car collision just south of Marion on Route 23 shortly after noon today.

Dead is Matthew Barney, 26, of Riggs, Ky. The injured include:

Robert H. Whitmore Jr., 35, of Toledo, who is in critical condition at City Hospital. He was a passenger in the Barney car.

Carl Roberts, 33, of Delaware, driver of a second car. He suffered fractured ribs and a possible fractured vertebrae and right elbow.

Mrs. Geraldine Roberts, 26, his wife. She is suffering from abrasions of the right knee and ankle.

Mrs. Jane Andrews, 27, of near Ostrander. She was hospitalized with leg abrasions and contusions about the face.

Verne Andrews, 29, of near Ostrander, suffered ankle injuries.

One other passenger in the car driven by Mr. Roberts escaped injury.

Patrolmen said the accident occurred when Barney, traveling south on the highway, pulled from behind a car driven by Robert Schleswohl of Mansfield. The car carrying the Delaware County residents was headed north.

Schleswohl drove his car into a ditch, avoiding the collision of Barney's car and the northbound vehicle.

The crash occurred just north of the Marion County Children's Home and Route 23 traffic was tied up in both directions for nearly a mile.

Activities Limited

County Fair Concluded; 5,000 Attend Last Session

The 104th Marion County Fair ended Thursday with about 6,000 persons attending the final session. Included in that total were 4,500 paid admissions.

For most of the exhibitors, the end of the fair signaled a return to the regular routine of farming life. To some, though, it was the signal to make the trek to Columbus for the State Fair which opens today.

Activities were limited during the day with the main events consisting of demonstrations in modern living by boys and girls of the local county agricultural clubs, and a tractor pulling contest, which lasted through most of the day.

Winners in the demonstrations for boys were John Bish and Richard Bentley of the Green Camp 4-H Club who gave a demonstration on tractor maintanence. Bish also won the individual prize for his demonstration on "Know the Eggs You Buy and Sell."

Alfreda Colimer and Carol Lush of the Claridon Tommies won the girls' senior team demonstration contest by showing how to "Clean and Pack Eggs." Another duo from the Tommies, Diana Smith and Nancy Knickel showed the fundamentals of "Producing Quality Drinking Milk." They won top honors for the junior girls team contest.

Farmers Well Paid

Pike Commission Seeks To Deal Fairly for Land

Of interest to farmers and other residents along the proposed north-south turnpike is the problem of what will happen to their lands and properties if the turnpike becomes a reality. Columbus Staffer Bill Terry reviews the situation in a two-part series, the first of which follows.

By BILL TERRY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—How does the farmer make out when a turnpike runs through his land—property which may have been in the same family for generations?

That's a question puzzling hundreds of farmers living along the tentatively recommended route of the 410-mile proposed Cincinnati-Conneaut turnpike

They're justly proud of their land, some of which ranks with the best in the country. And they're wondering whether the turnpike, if built, will ruin their farms

If things work out as they did for the farmers along the Northern Ohio Turnpike now being built they won't be badly off, says Derl Oberlin, an attorney in the right-of-way section of the Ohio Turnpike Commission

That turnpike requires 1,650 mainline parcels of land, which represents a smaller number of farms—both big and small In some cases the turnpike isolates a section of farmland In others it makes it harder for the farmer to tarvel to section of his farm divided by the turnpike.

OBERLIN SAYS the fact the commission had to go to court in only five per cent of land buying cases speaks well for its land purchase policies

To insure fair values local appraisers well acquainted with local land prices set amounts of money the commission was willing to pay The commission, in order to speed up its land buying program offered a 10 per cent premium up to $2,000 for prompt closing of deals

Most farmers thought the prices were fair, a few took the commission to court When court verdicts came out close to appraisals, other farmers who had planned suits dropped them

Oberlin says no one knows now whether the 10 per cent premium plan will be used in acquiring land for the Cincinnati-Conneaut turnpike

The farmer not only gets paid for the land taken for right-of-way but also gets damages for land which ends up being on the other side of the turnpike The amount of damages depends upon how inconvenient it is to the farmer to use the land across the turnpike

Most big farms are located on county roads that either will go over or under the turnpike In those cases the farmers can reach the cut off part of his farm by using that road—and the amount of damages is smaller

SOME NORTHERN OHIO farms now are changing shape as farmers sell cut off portions on the other side of the turnpike to farmers who can make use of them In these cases the farmer comes out ahead, for he gets his sale price plus what the commission has paid him in damages, usually equally to the value of the land

In some cases the farmer gets damages based on the larger portion of his farm on the theory it is less valuable since reduced in size

In general, Oberlin says, settlements have been generous

The turnpike will not block off any streams or drainage systems In fact he says, many farm drainage systems have been improved by turnpike workers

Farmers' recommendations resulted in the right-of-way fence to keep livestock and people from wandering onto the turnpike being built stronger than originally planned It will be high enough so a horse can't jump over it, strong enough so a bull can't butt it down and tight enough so hogs can't scurry underneath

Galionite Injured In Diving Practice

GALION — A well-known diver, Robert Via of Galion, was injured when he hit bottom while practicing a fancy dive from the 33-foot tower at the new Swiss Village swimming pool east of Galion Wednesday afternoon

Via is proprietor of Robert's party store at 228 Harding Way East He was admitted to City Hospital for treatment following the accident and was x-rayed Thursday He suffered head lacerations and injuries to the upper back and neck when he hit the bottom of the pool at a depth of 14 feet. His wife said he was familiar with the tower and the water depth, but apparently was giving too much concentration to the fancy dive he was perfecting He was stunned, but not knocked unconscious.

He is 42 years of age and had been diving since he was six years old He was an outstanding diver in Sandusky while in high school

Counter Balance

By George Sokolsky

It is no novelty in any age or in any place that the older generations see the movement of life before them with weary eyes.

SOKOLSKY

Change is always uncomfortable for those who have become accustomed to their own ways. Jeremiah and Amos relive each century but so does St. Francis of Assisi who found in life itself, whatever the circumstance, an everlasting goodness.

So, in our times, there are prophets of gloom and doom who serve well because they counterbalance the over-optimistic and the blindly hopeful who believe that change is an end in itself.

The prophets of gloom and doom, to use a phrase, do not believe that change for the sake of cange serves a logical design of living. The concept of the permanent revolution is rounded in biology, not in morals.

OUR PEOPLE do not divide themselves into conservatives, liberals and radicals — nor for that matter, do any other people. In the good, old days of the anarchism of Emma Goldman, there were those who insisted that as there could be no God, they would not accept conventional morality.

A friend of mine, of those days wanted to marry a young lady of extraordinary charm. Although he called himself a philosophic anarchist, he insisted on making the girl an honest woman according to the morals of his New England ancestors. She, on the other hand, insisted that a lawful marriage would involve a repudiation of her noblest ideal, which was that she alone could determine what was right or wrong for herself.

I listened to this argument for months in my youth. They lived happily out of wedlock and had some children.

Then the issue arose that the children might not care to be illegitimate. It might embarrass the children when their playmates discovered the noblest ideals of the mother. So the parents finally married in accordance with the law.

Life is too complicated for anyone to set himself up as the sole judge even of his own conduct. He might not get a job on that yardstick of propriety; therefore even radicals wear dinner jackets with black ties to establish that one might think along the lines of Karl Marx and dress according to the style of Fred Astaire.

THE PROPHETS of gloom and doom are often very cheerful persons who have read much history and know some anthropology and psychology and even economics and who have reached the conclusion that while the human race has tried all sorts of experiments in living, some methods have worked better than others.

The New Deal is as old as Joseph in Egypt who conceived of a planned economy that ultimately made everybody poor; Fascism was proposed by Saint-Simon at the time of the French Revolution but his followers called it the "New Christianity."

Many of his followers became arch-capitalists, the bourgeoisie of the 1830's, just as the current followers of Marx and Bakunin have produced a slave state while seeking a perfect society in which government will wither away.

The prophets of gloom and doom know that government will not wither away, just as they know that if a government spends too much, its currency will depreciate and the reservoirs of private capital will dry up. They know that an intermediate step of private monopoly precedes the era of government monopoly.

WHILE THE SO-CALLED liberal believes that he is saving his world from revolution, actually he is laying down a red carpet to welcome the revolution; that is, the change-over from private ownership of wealth to government ownership of the means of production and distribution.

What he overlooks is the essential nature of those means, namely, that they consist not only of machines but of human beings.

Therefore, while he believes that he is producing a greater freedom for all, he is actually laboring for a government control of the lives of the people. Lenin saw that clearly and removed the liberals as an obstacle to scientific socialism. The conservatives ran away. So Lenin had the field to himself and his permanent revolution.

Liebknecht and Rosa Luxemburg in Germany were less successful because they themselves were of a liberal tradition.

In the United States, the prophets of doom and gloom give ballast to a trend toward the permanent revolution in the hope that it may run itself out.

Red Retaliation

By Victor Riesel

Within an hour after the summer White House had announced that President Eisenhower would sign the bill outlawing the Communist party, the Communist underground was acting on detailedly prepared instructions for operation as an illegal apparatus.

RIESEL

The new underground strategy, which can now be revealed here, is aimed at using legitimate as well as pro-Communist unions to camouflage Communist party meetings and propaganda. So this is being written as an alert as well as a report.

Here are some of the party's secret instructions:

Communist party clubs are to be cut down from a maximum of five members to a top roster of three tovarischi, preferably two. Clubs, or cells, are never to meet in anyone's home again.

Instead, each tiny cadre is to meet in a union hall, union cafeteria, day room, hiring hall or, if possible, in the union office itself.

ALL STRATEGY and all propaganda is to be worked out at such sessions in the halls and offices of unions to which the party members belong. This is where the conspiracy will be developed.

The clubs or cells of two and three party members will meet as though they had run into each other casually and were discussing Native Dancer's bum leg or the Dodgers in a capitalist world.

In the big hiring halls and the day rooms of unions in New York, Chicago, Birmingham and coastal cities, groups of two or three politicalized duespayers will not be conspicuous.

Point of this strategy is to put on the spot any law enforcement officer who arrests them, any prosecutor who attempts to jail them and any government official responsible for the law banning the Communist party. For any evidence against them necessarily will show that the party cell or club was picked up in a union headquarters.

Then the Communists will shout that the law is aimed not only at their party but at unions whose members were sitting quietly in their labor headquarters.

The party hopes further to complicate life for enforcement officials by having its people set themselves up as official union committees wherever possible and on rank-and-file committees in unions controlled by anti-Communists.

THESE GROUPS may call themselves the "Committee for Better Health", or the "Committee Against Discrimination in Jobs", etc., etc.

Then the Communist party will be able to scream that the government is persecuting liberals and crusaders. Thus the party hopes to avoid identification of its clubs and to whip up labor support.

There are other security details. But more important than party instructions not to use the telephone or mention names in the calling of meetings, is the drive for survival of such pro-Communist leaders of tremendously important Sovieteering unions as Harry Bridges, head of the West Coast longshoremen.

In past months Bridges as been negotiating with gangster-led independent longshoremen unions in an effort to find non-Communist camouflage by merging with them.

He has now decided to call a conference of the leaders of 300,000 members of pro-Communist waterfront, communications, electrical and mine workers (not John Lewis' miners, of course). He hasn't definitely set either the time or place. But he wants the parley summoned shortly and would prefer San Francisco.

HOWEVER, BRIDGES is running into that old devil, human nature, and the drive for economic security. As an old Marxist, Bridges should have had premonitions that some leaders of other Sovieteering unions wouldn't want to be seen too close to him.

Some pro-Communist union chiefs, who now believe they may be able to slip quietly into the AFL or CIO by making recanting noises, have sent word to Harry that they aren't enthusiastic over joining him in a defense conference. The decision, of course, will be made by higher ups.

And finally the party leaders have let it be known that the time has come to push for a national "labor" party with all the undercover and public force still left the Commies.

The party line now is that the old parties can't be trusted and the moment is here for developing "a true united front party of labor and the common man."

"Labor must set its sights in the direction of a great party of its own," says the Communist party leadership.

There is much more, of course, in the secret directives, but to know the above is to be fore-armed against the party's most dangerous tactics.

San Francisco

By Hal Boyle

SAN FRANCISCO — Leaves from a touring notebook:

What is the charm that makes up San Francisco?

Every great world city, like every outstanding human being, has a personality that sets it apart from others. Who could awake in Paris and confuse it with Rome? Who could mistake the fierce power of New York for the grey, durable grandeur of London? Hong Kong has a lure inherent even in its name, which sounds like the bonging of temple gongs.

HAL BOYLE

BUT WHAT IS the magic of San Francisco? One way for an outlander to learn the secret of a city is to ask the people in it why they choose to live there.

I asked that question of a number of residents here. The answers rather surprised me. Not one mentioned specifically the things that San Francisco is most famous for —the unmatched splendor of its setting, its historic past, its variety of food, its cosmopolitan air.

Here are a few replies:

"Everybody is an individual out here. People still respect each other. A pedestrian even has equal rights with a motorist. Folks have more tolerance. They don't quibble over small matters."

"San Francisco has a sense of vitality and the unexpected. You don't have the feeling that everything is over and done with. Anything can happen."

"Most cities have only two climates. And the climate doesn't change by the week or the month. Many days here you can drive a mile and go through at least three different climates. That gives an excitement to living."

A LADY WHO moved here several years ago from New York said positively, "San Francisco is a man's town." Asked if she liked this, she demanded, "what lady would want to live in a woman's town?"

To me the magic of San Francisco lies in the fact that it is able to look backward and forward at the same time.

It enjoys the present heartily. But at the same time it holds one hand fondly back to its fabulous past, it stretches another ahead to welcome the future. It does a wonderful job of balancing history and progress.

Swept by a postwar boom, San Francisco has spread its tentacles of growth outward, but it has changed at its heart more slowly. One returning here after many years will find that the old San Francisco has avoided being swallowed by the new.

WHILE IT HAS retained such moving signboards of yesterday as the cable car, it hasn't lagged behind in the jet age.

This week it dedicated its new $14,000,000 International Airport Terminal, serving more than 3,500,000 people in the Bay region.

The terminal building, one of the mot modern in the nation, has eight levels, can accommodate 5 million passengers a year and is designed so that it can be expanded to handle 10,000,000. The airfield itself is as large as the La Guardia and Chicago Airports combined.

Among its features are a $250,000 International Restaurant and vast photo-electric window louvres that close automatically to subdue bright sunshine, open on dull days to admit more light.

But more impressive to me than its multi-million-dollar glamor is the fact that it has two complete nurseries. Mothers with babies have been the forgotten travelers of the air age, but San Francisco has remembered them.

LISBON, Ohio (AP)—Fifteen-year-old Donald Saltsman of nearby Homeworth got $417.60 for his 870 pound steer which was grand champion at the 109th annual Columbiana County Fair. the animal was purchased by John Liber, Salem meat market operator.

Ike Urges New Voters To Take Part in Politics

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower says he'd like to see millions of newly eligible voters take an active part in politics—and get on the Republican team as well.

The President directed his appeal at five million young American men and women who have come of voting age since the 1952 election.

"In the vigor of the enthusiastic dedication of citizens such as those constituting the Young Republican (national) Federation rests the future of the great Republican party..." Eisenhower said in a statement published in the August issue of the federation's News.

The statement also will be used in a federation pamphlet to be distributed to new voters.

The federation, which opens a three-day meeting in Cincinnati today, announced a nationwide series of campaign rallies Oct. 14 Eisenhower's 64th birthday.

U.S. Vets Total Nearly 21 Million, VA Reports

WASHINGTON (AP)—Veterans Administration statistics indicated today more than three million servicemen have returned to civilian life since the outbreak of the Korean War.

As of July 31, a monthly VA summary showed, there were 2,962,000 discharged veterans of service since June 27, 1950.

Altogether, VA officials estimate there are now about 20,950,000 former service men.

Blueberry Picker Not Lost, Just Held Up by Wooden Leg

GRAVENHURST, Ont. (AP)—Sixty-year-old Bert McConnell wasn't really lost the other night after a blueberry picking trip. He was just delayed because his wooden leg kept coming off.

Searchers found McConnell yesterday at a farm house. He had become separated from a friend while picking berries near here.

"Why call the cops?" asked McConnell. "I know these woods like the back of my hand. It was my darn leg that held me up."

"It kept getting caught, coming off, and I broke the harness on it. Otherwise, I'm all right...and I got the blueberries."

MAY SKIP CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio's Gov. Frank J. Lausche probably will not attend a Midwest Democratic Farm Conference Saturday at Sioux Falls, S. D. More than 40 candidates for governor and Congress from 15 states will attend to discuss the farm issue in the coming campaign.

Youth Demonstrations Close Marion County Fair

MARION COUNTY'S 104th fair closed Thursday as a good crowd, largest of the week, attended. Included in the program yesterday were demonstrations by boys and girls who were members of county agricultural clubs.

Detroit Curbs Rowdyism by Getting Tough

Jail Sentences Given Wayward Teen-Agers; Help of Adults Praised

DETROIT (AP)—Young rowdyism is on the downgrade in Detroit.

Authorities have their fingers crossed. But there is definite evidence in the police record that boy gangs aren't the critical problem they were just a month ago.

The police youth bureau estimates this kind of juvenile trouble has fallen off 25 per cent.

The cure—if it is a cure—has probably been in part a derivative of the old "spare the rod and spoil the child" rule.

The courts have adopted a "get tough" policy. Teen-age offenders have been packed off to jail. Heretofore they got off with a reprimand, as a rule.

Adult Groups Help

Adult groups also set out to do something about it, offering aid to civic authorities.

Earlier this summer the Motor City was alarmed over recurrent outbreaks of kid gang violence.

Rival gangs, often armed, met in actual combat. Boys got badly hurt. Sometimes they were knifed. There were neighborhood depradations too. Vandalism was frequent. School buildings were particular victims of plunder and destruction.

At times there were wanton street attacks upon citizens.

A crackdown on the youngsters has now been in effect for one month.

Inspector Ralph Baker, head of the police youth bureau, said the decrease in juvenile rowdyism stems form the courts' "stern attitude" and an aroused citizenry.

"People have begun to step forward and ask what can be done," Baker said.

Refers to 'Rowdyism'

Baker distinguished between "rowdyism" and actual juvenile crime. In the latter, he said, there as been no decrease.

Mayor Albert E. Cobo's youth committee, cooperating with the police, courts, schools, churches and other groups, set out on a broad program against rowdyism and delinquency in general.

One judge insists on having the parents in court whenever a youthful offender appears before him.

A stern police policy is supported. Churches are trying to stir up more interest on the part of young people. There are neighborhood plans for teaching errant youngsters manners and discipline.

Senator Raps Ike's Federal Pay Hike Veto

CINCINNATI (AP)—Sen. Olin Johnston of South Carolina, ranking Democratic member of the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee, last night called President Eisenhower "Alibi Ike" for his veto message in killing five per cent pay increases for federal employes.

But another speaker at the convention of the National Federation of Post Office Clerks, Assistant Postmaster General Eugene J. Lyons, said the Administration took the right course.

Johnston said the President used the "alibi" that Congress refused to vote postal increases to provide revenue to meet the pay boost.

"Maybe he doesn't yet realize the 1,700,000 other federal workers were involved besides the postal workers," said the senator.

One of Eisenhower's reasons for rejecting the bill was that it did not provide for an increase in postal rates to offset cost.

Lyons, who is in charge of post office personnel, said post office employes deserve a decent wage, but "users of the mails should pay the costs."

"It is unconscionable to pass to our children postal deficits which since World War II have totaled more than 4 billion dollars," he said.

A real friend of the working man, Lyons contended, would not support salary increases without providing the funds to pay them.

Expensive Nest

WILLOUGHBY, Ohio (AP)—Workmen, remodeling Hellriegel's Inn, found a mouse's nest yesterday behind a wall board. It was made of $10 and $20 bills, torn into small pieces.

Mrs. Mary Kochevar, part owner of the inn, estimated the cash redeemable value of the bills at $75.

judging contest held Wednesday and won by Jerry Higgins, were announced. Higgins wound up with a point total of 356 out of 400.

In the individual classes, Larry Sims of Meeker was best in the beef cattle judging with a perfect score. Perfect scores were also scored in the dairy, swine, and sheep contests. George Yake of Waldo took honors in dairy judging; Darrel Gerfin of Prospect was high in the swine contest; and Harold Isler of Prospect was tops in the sheep judging.

CLASS A OF THE tractor pulling contest was won by Jim Ellwood of Ada who pulled a load of 4,200 pounds one foot and one inch. Dan Schilling of Hillards was second, and Carl McCarty of Plain City was third.

Winner in Class B of the pulling contest was Hugh Johnson of Caledonia. Don Baker of Ada was second, and Byron Tupps of Galion was third. Clayton Brandon of Cardington finished fourth, and in fifth position was Gene Rowland of Crestline.

In the Class C competition, Robert Margraff of Carey was number one, with Don Baker of Ada second and Wheeler Whittinger of Circleville third. J. C. Graham of Ashley was fourth; and Don McGinnis of Cardington was fifth.

The Ward Beam Thrill show wound up the fair's activities last night.

SPECTATORS FOR the event filled the grandstand and were lined up on either side of the stands and in the infield. Clifford Campbell, fair board secretary called it one of the largest closing night crowds to visit the county fair.

Several groups of children who won honors in the talent show last Saturday were reported to have been from the Held-Sweld Dancing School of Delaware. The dance studio should have been the Held-Swagler Studios.

Winner of the grand champion market hog competition was Bill Hedges of the Prospect F. F. A. Chapter. It had been reported Max Brewer won that event. Hedges also received the Dr. W. J. McClaskey trophy for his accomplishment.

German Visitors Study Commercial Steel Plant

Two German visitors to the United States were luncheon guests of the Commercial Steel Castings Co. at the Harding Hotel Tuesday.

They were Alfred Wuetherich, chief engineer, and Josef Hummel, plant manager, of the Weingarten Co. of Wurtenberg, Germany. The company is a manufacturer of machine tools and mechanical primer.

Another guest was Jack Callihan, chief engineer of the Lester Engineering Co. of Cleveland.

Following the luncheon the group went on a tour of the Commercial plant and methods of producing steel castings were discussed.

GUARD LOSES WALLET

MYRTLE BEACH, S.C. (AP)—As Maurice Selvin, a Myrtle Beach lifeguard, raced to aid a swimmer, he dropped his wallet in the sand.

When he returned for it, spectators told him they had seen a woman pick it up and run.

Traffic Cases In City Court

Six drivers were fined a total of $465 on various traffic violation charges when they pleaded guilty in Marion Municipal Court Thursday.

One of the stiffest penalties meted out in recent weeks by Judge W. Dexter Hazen went to Kenneth E. Oliver of New Bloomington on a drunken driving charge. He was fined $300 and sentenced to six months in the Columbus workhouse. Court records show he previously was arrested and convicted of drunken driving charges four other times since October, 1949.

Another man charged with drunken driving was fined the usual $100 and costs, sentenced to five days in the Marion County jail and his driver's license was suspended for three years. He was Robert Mosley, 29, of 320 N. Main St. He was also charged with hit-skip driving.

Other dispositions Thursday were routine. They included:

Charles Mick, 23, of W. Center St., charged with blocking a railroad crossing, $20 and costs; Alvin F. Bowman, 30, of Marion, passing in a "no passing" zone, $15 and costs; Dorothy Massey of 637 Leader St., no operator's license, $15 and costs, suspended; and John Shumate, 45, of 184 John St., speeding, $15 and costs.

District Traffic Arrest

State highway patrolmen from Marion made one arrest outside the county on Thursday. Stanley M. Parrot, 30, of near Lexington, was arrested for unsafe operation and was fined $50 and costs by Mayor Don Healea at Cardington.

Tough Resolutions Ahead

Controversial Side Issues Face Returning Senators

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some controversial side issues, including a new effort to tighten investigation rules, may pop up in the Senate when it returns to Washington sometime this fall to vote on the matter of censuring Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

A resolution to tighten the rules was left on the calendar when the Senate quit a week ago today, along with six other Senate resolutions and 29 House-passed bills, most of them minor, which the Senate could still send to the White House.

Mundt's Proposal

A pending resolution which could plunge the Senate into controversy has been introduced by Sen. Mundt (R-SD). It would reimburse the Government Operations Committee, which is headed by McCarthy, for $24,605.67 of its funds spent by the Senate Investigations subcommittee to inquire into the McCarthy-Army controversy.

The subcommittee, headed usually by McCarthy but temporarily under Mundt's command for the inquiry will make public next week its reports on McCarthy's battle with Secretary of the Army Stevens. That report will be before the Senate, along with the report of the special censure committee, when members return to Washington.

Sen. Hayden (D-Ariz) has proposed an amendment to the Mundt resolution under which the McCarthy subcommittee would have to comply with certain new rules before it could obtain funds for its investigations.

Rule Changes Proposed

These rules would require advance approval of the full Government Operations Committee — on which there are seven Republicans and six Democrats — before any new investigation is started. Formal notice in writing to the vice president would be required before the new inquiry was begun and the subcommittee chairman—in this case McCarthy—would have to certify that thee conditions had been carried out.

In another controversial investigation resolution that might be called up, Sen. McCarran (D-Nev) has proposed that a Senate Judiciary subcommittee be given $37,500 to finance an investigation of alleged monopolies.

When the Senate didn't act on this before it quit, Chairman Langer (R-ND) of the Judiciary Committee announced he was going to take on four private law cases to raise money to finance such an investigation personally.

The Senate has two treaties on its calendar and could take up any others sent to it by the President. However, opposition to the two now officially before it, involving agreement with Japan to eliminate double taxation, may delay any action until next year.

702 Nominations Pending

The Senate might get around to confirming some of the 702 nominations it left pending when it adjourned last week, some of which were in dispute.

Among controversial House bills still technically alive is a measure to raise from 8 to 12 years the period in which distiller can hold whisky in warehouses before payment of federal taxes.

Another would authorize the issuance of certificates of public convenience to 14 local service airlines and three all-cargo air carriers.

One House-approved bill would declare as a congressional policy that the government "should not engage in business-type operations that are in competition with private enterprise," authorizing the President to terminate such federal activities.

$79,000 Asked In Two Claims

Both Petitions Result From Traffic Mishaps

Two damage suits, totalling over $79,000 have been filed in Marion County Common Pleas Court by two men, as the result of two traffic accidents.

Virgil W. Dickman of near Ft. Jennings, is asking $54,524 damages from C. E. Struble, E. O. Struble, and C. K. Struble, who operated the Midwest Livestock Co. of Mount Victory.

Dickman is asking the damages for injuries sustained in a collision of a one and one-half-ton truck he was driving and a tractor-trailer operated by Francis L. Orahood, an employe of the company.

The accident occurred on Route 30-S less than half a mile west of the Marion-Morrow County line on July 20, 1953 at 11:20 p.m. In his petition, Dickman says he was confined to the Galion City Hospital until Sept. 9 following the accident.

Representing Dickman are Edward H. Jones of Galion, and the firm of Ross and Sauter of Mansfield.

In the other suit, James W. Hardacre of 114 N. State St., is asking $25,204 damages from Rex Clevenger of near Marysville.

Hardacre's petition states that he was heading east on E. Center St. and was stopped for a traffic light at Kensington Pl. on Feb. 21, 1954 at 3 p.m., when a vehicle driven by Clevenger struck his car, injuring him and damaging the car.

Hardacre is being represented by G. A. Piacentino.

PLEADS INNOCENT

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—George Boggs, 31, of Mansfield pleaded innocent yesterday in the fatal beating Monday of Patrick H. Thomas, 41, of Ravenna. Boggs was held for the grand jury under $5,000 bond on a second degree murder charge. Police said the two men fought after buying a bottle of wine.

EDC

conference probably will be held early in October if the French National Assembly rejects the EDC treaty.

(Participants in the conference would be the United States, Britain France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

(U.S. officials and foreign diplomats said the meeting had been proposed by some of the European Defense Community powers—not France—and was under consideration in Washington.)

The half dozen ministers supporting EDC had been under pressure from powerful political forces to resign at once.

These factions were angered by Mendes-France's failure to work actively to put the EDC treaty across in the Assembly. A series of secret huddles was held last night, but no final decisions were taken. More buzzing back and forth was certain today.

The threat to the government brought President Rene Coty hurrying back to Paris from his Normandy vacation to preside over a full-dress meeting today of the Cabinet. Cabinet meetings take on additional weight and meaning in France when the President sits in.

Asked by Mendes-France

The President's office said he would resume his holiday at Bagnoles de l'Orne right after the meeting. Officials declined to comment on Coty's return to the capital except to say that Mendes-France asked him to make the trip.

Three anti-EDC ministers, all followers of Gen. Charles de Gaulle, resigned two weeks ago after Mendes-France drew up his revised version of EDC which the five other European army nations later turned down at their Brussels conference.

The ultranationalist De Gaullists resented their Premier having anything to do with EDC in any version.

The pro-EDC ministers involved in the latest resignation maneuver include Maurice Bourges, Maunoury, industry and commerce; Emile Hughes, justice; Guy la Cambre, associated states (Indochina); and Guerin de Beaumont, secretary of state for foreign affairs. All are members of the radical Socialist (moderate) or Independent Republican parties.

Mendes-France may ask for the resignations of all his ministers, with the date left blank for the Premier to fill in if he needs to use them.

Through this device, the Premier would avoid an open Cabinet split on EDC and the ministers could vote individually according to their wills.

Trucker Held At Bucyrus in Fatal Accident

BUCYRUS — Virgil C. Strayer, 25, Lima, pleaded innocent to an involuntary manslaughter charge at his arraignment here Thursday before Justice of Peace Robert C. Neff and was held to the Crawford County grand jury under $1,000 bond. He is in county jail here.

Charges were filed against Strayer, a driver for the Emery Transportation Co., Chicago, after his semi-trailer truck struck and killed Otto S. Meister, 61, prominent Bucyrus farmer and president of the Zeigler Milling Co. here for the past 25 years. The charges were filed by the Bucyrus post of the state highway patrol.

Meister was killed instantly along State Route 98 near Bucyrus early Thursday. The truck tore up about 100 feet of fence and finally jacknifed after it struck a fence gate. Meister's body was found about 14 feet from the road, authorities reported. It was believed Meister was preparing to take some cattle across the road when he was hit. Strayer was uninjured although his truck was badly damaged.

Meister was born Sept. 8, 1892, in Holmes Township, the son of John and Elizabeth Luidhardt Meister. He was married on Nov. 25, 1917, to Hulda E. Kurtz, who survives. Also surviving are three sons, Robert, John and James, all of Liberty Township; two brothers, Carl of Bucyrus, and Melvin of Liberty Township; a sister, Mrs. William Oppenlander, Bucyrus, and four grandchildren. He was a member of Good Hope Lutheran Church.

Services will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Munz Funeral Home here. Burial will be in Oakwood Cemetery. Friends may call tonight at the funeral home.

was presented to the delegates Wednesday by a coordinating committee headed by Lutheran Bishop Hanns Lilje of Hanover, Germany.

It was accompanied by a statement from the committee. Debate, revolving principally about the statement, continued through the Wednesday night session without a decision.

A revised statement — subject to further revision — was scheduled to be placed before the delegates late today.

The report denounced communism as the road to "totalitarian dictatorship" and found some fault with democracies too.

Marion Driver Unhurt In Only Traffic Accident

Richard O. Allen, 22, of near Marion, escaped injury when his car crashed into a tree on Marion County Road 66 yesterday, state patrolmen from the Marion post said. In the city Thursday, there were two minor accidents with no one injured.

Patrolmen said Allen's car went off County Road 66, about eight-tenths of a mile west of Route 23, at 5:20 p.m. The car skidded along a ditch a short distance and finally crashed into a tree. The auto was demolished.

Drowning

11, 1936, who survives, he was the father of one daughter, Linda Sue, 11, also surviving, and the two sons who drowned with him.

Surviving also are Arnold's parents, two brothers, Glenn of 383 Leader St., Irwin of 224 Short St., and two sisters, Roberta of 383 Leader St. and Mrs. Pauline Eakins of 389 Leader St.

IN ADDITION to their mother, sister, and paternal grandparents, the two sons, James Willard and Harold LeRoy, are survived by their maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Ensell of Steubenville. Born March 30, 1940, in Marion, James would have been a freshman at Edison Jr. High School and Harold, born March 20, 1938, would have been a junior at Harding High School this fall.

Funeral services will be held for the three Monday. The bodies are at the Merle Hughes Mortuary pending the completion of funeral and burial arrangements.

Big Turnout Seen For GOP Strategy Talks in Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — Republican leaders predicted today the largest turnout for a national committee meeting in an "off" year at the high level GOP strategy conference in Cincinnati next week.

More than 130 of the 143 committee men and women have made advance registration. This would be tops for a meeting in a year when no president was being elected, officials said.

Party Chairman Leonard Hall said the "workshop sessions" would draft campaign plans so that President Eisenhower's hand would be strengthened in the next Congress.

Committee members will start gathering Sunday. Vice President Nixon will address the conference Wednesday.

Local GOP Club To Hear Betts, George Bender

Representative George H. Bender of Cleveland, candidate for the U. S. Senate, and Jackson E. Betts of Findlay, candidate for re-election to the House of Representatives, will be the principal speakers when the Marion County Republican Club holds a picnic on Sept. 9.

Arthur L. Watt, president of the club, reported that the picnic portion of the event, scheduled to begin at 6:30 p. m. in the Lincoln Park picnic area, will be for club members only. The meal will be served by the Marion County Republican Women's Club.

At 8 p. m. the meeting will be open to the public to hear Bender and Betts discuss the national political issues.

Committee chairmen in charge of arrangements are Ralph E. Carhart, Mrs. Mary Eloise Furnis, Mrs. Bertha Stewart, John V. Ruth, Maurice C. Clements, Luther Mitchell, and Robert H. Stief.

Republican leaders from the counties comprising the Eighth Congressional District, to which Marion County belongs, have been invited to attend, Watt said.

Democrats Get Set To Make Political Capital of Republican Farm Program

(This is the third in a series of stories reviewing the session of Congress just ended.)

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican-controlled 83rd Congress finds itself in about the same controversial spot on farm legislation as did the 80th Congress, the last time the GOP was in the driver's seat.

Democrats are sizing up a new farm program passed by the present Congress as a major issue in the fall's congressional election. They contend the program will hurt farmers.

In 1948, Democrats fired a similar charge against a GOP Congress. President Truman beat out Gov. Thomas E. Dewey for the presidency and Democrats regained control of Congress. The farm vote was credited with being a major factor.

But Republican leaders predict the comparision will end there. They express confidence that farmers will approve Congress' recent action in setting up a system of flexible farm price supports to supplant war-born high, rigid price floors.

IN 1948 THE issue centered largely around Congress' stripping the agriculture department of authority to provide storage facilities for farmers' surplus crops. Farm prices tumbled and Democrats said refusal of the GOP lawmakers to allow the government to augment commercial storage was to blame. They said lack of storage made price supports inoperative.

Seeking ouster of GOP congressmen from farm states, Democrats are predicting that the new support system—passed by a somewhat reluctant Congress at insistence of President Eisenhower—will bring on lower farm prices, a reduced farm income and possibly an agricultural depression.

But Eisenhower, his secretary of agriculture, Ezra Taft Benson, and other Administration lieutenants stand ready to defend the new legislation.

The flexible system provides a sliding scale of supports for the basic crops—wheat, cotton, corn, rice and peanuts — ranging from 82½ to 90 per cent of parity for 1955 and 75 to 90 thereafter. Parity is a price declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they must pay.

PRESENT SUPPORTS are at 90 per cent of parity for the basic crops.

The theory of the variable system is that supports should be high in times of shortages to encourage increased production and lower in times of surpluses to discourage production and to encourage greater consumption.

The Administration, in pushing flexible floors through Congress, argued that the mandatory high supports, first enacted during the war to spur increased output, have been working to the detriment of farmers because they encouraged overproduction and the buildup of price-depressing surpluses totaling nearly 6½ billion dollars in the hands of the government.

Flexible floors, the GOP leaders contend, will help farmers adjust their production pattern to postwar demands and, in time, regain more favorable prices in the market places as output is reduced to buyers' demands.

The new program does not have the full support of the GOP members of Congress. A majority of "farm bloc" Republicans sought extension of the 90 per cent supports. Some seeking re-election in November are promising to work for repeal of the flexible system at the next session of Congress.

DEMOCRATS THEMSELVES are not lined up solidly against the new farm program. Several party leaders in Congress, including Sen. Anderson (D-NM), a former secretary of agriculture, argued for flexible supports.

Nevertheless, the Democrats plan to launch a broad attack on the new farm legislation at a Midwestern Farm Conference at Sioux Falls, S. D. Saturday, with Adlai Stevenson, the party's 1952 standard bearer, the main speaker.

Strangely enough, the flexible support plan was first written into law by the Republican 80th Congress, but was not an issue in the presidential election of 1948. Both parties endorsed it, but it was never allowed to go into effect because Congress kept extending the 90 per cent rate.

Less controversy appears to center on other legislation affecting farmers.

Generally approved were Administration proposals to dispose and set aside big chunks of the huge farm surpluses, in order to minimize their depressing effects on market prices.

ONE ACT ALONG this line authorized the President to sell up to 700 million dollars worth of farm surpluses for foreign currencies which would in turn be used to finance U. S. military and other projects abroad. It also authorized the chief executive to donate 300 million dollars worth of the surplus for relief use abroad.

Congress also authorized the Administration to set aside up to 2½ billion dollars worth of the surpluses for such non-commercual uses as foreign aid programs, barter for strategic materials, foreign and domestic relief, national stockpiling and research.

Of special importance was a provision that the set-aside crops were not to be considered in setting price supports under the sliding scale. Because of this, price floors will average higher for the next few years than they otherwise would have.

The GOP will go before farmer voters with an argument that Congress passed legislation that will ease a scheduled shift from an old to a new, "modern" formula for determining parity prices for corn, wheat, cotton, and peanuts. A measure passed in 1948 set up the new formula, but provided that it should not go into effect on some crops until 1956.

ON THE basis of present price relationships, the new formula would cut the parity price of wheat from $2.50 to $2.11 a bushel, corn from $1.82 to $1.60, cotton from 35.09 to 3.29 cents a pound and peanuts from 13.6 to 10.8 cents a pound.

But under the new farm program, the change to the new parity will be limited to 5 per cent a year, beginning Jan. 1, 1956.

Not without political implications was Congress' passage at Eisenhower's request, of legislation authorizing use of production payments to support income of wool producers. The government would pay growers to make up their deficit when wool prices failed to measure up to the support level, but the wool itself would sell at the free market rate. Heretofore, wool has been suported by means of government purchases and loans.

When use of production payments for support purposes was first advocated by former Secretary of Agriculture Brannan in 1949, Reublicans were loud in criticism.

THE LAST session of Congress voted more money for federal subsidies to farmers for carrying out government - approved soil and water conservation practices—240 million dollars against 190 millions last year.

In this connection, the new tax law enacted by Congress gave farmers a break on money spent for conservation purposes. Twenty-five per cent of such expenditures may be deducted annually in figuring a farmer's taxable income. Up until now, such expenditures were not deductible, except as figuring capital gains under a land sale.

The tax law also removed the tax on proceeds from the sale of cattle when the sale is force by disease, provided the proceeds are re-invested in cattle within one year after the close of the taxable year. The revenue act also provided for a more rapid writeoff of the cost of new depreciable farm assets, such as machinery and equipment.

UNDER A NEW social security measure, Congress extended old age and survivor insurance benefits to 3,500,000 farm operators and to 2,500,000 additional farm workers.

This extension to farm operators was somewhat provisional, however, because it is not scheduled to go into effect until April 1, 1956. Lawmakers said this delay in the effective date was made to give farmers a chance to say in the meantime whether they wanted to be covered. There was much argument in Congress that farm operators do not want to go under social security.

Heretofore, farm employers were required to report, for old age pension coverage, only those workers to whom they paid at least $200 a year. Now those who earn at least $100 must be reported.

Other measures passed by the 83rd Congress affecting farmers included:

Increase from 6½ billion dollars to 10 billions in funds of the agriculture department's Commodity Credit Corp. for price support financing. Without this increase, the department would have been without money to support this year's crops.

Transfer of agriculture attachees in foreign countries from the state department to the agriculture department. This shift was made to help in efforts of the latter agency to expand farm markets abroad.

Wynn's 2-Hitter, Smith's Homer Pace Indians' Win

Tribe Shades Senators 2-1; Feller, Schmitz Go Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Old Bob Feller rocking along in the best season's he's had since leading the league's pitchers in 1951, tries tonight against Washington to safeguard Cleveland's 4½-game bulge over the New York Yankees

Thanks to a two-hit pitching job by Early Wynn and an eighth-inning homer by Al Smith, the Tribe won the opener of the series last night 2-1 for a record of five out of six on the current road trip

Feller, whose 11 victories against only two losses have been a big factor in the Tribe's pennant push, has yet to beat the Senators and Yanks this season Washington got six hits and four runs off him in his first start of the season back on May 2 when reliefer Ray Narleski earned the victory Against New York Feller has not started

Johnny Schmitz (7-7) a three-time loser to the Tribe so far, is the probable Washington moundsman

Feller's sparkling 11-2 mark which includes eight complete games and three others in which he lasted until the ninth compares with a 10-7 record he posted last season and 9-13 the year before

In last night's game, Wynn did some of his finest pitching this year and that made up for a light Tribe hitting attack Early struck out five and walked two in chalking up his 18th victory against nine losses

The only run off Wynn was unearned In the fourth inning shortstop Sam Dente muffed a grounder by Pete Runnels After Mickey Vernon fouled out, Jim Busby forced Runnels at second Then Roy Sievers belted the first hit of the game off Wynn—a 380-foot blast that licked outfielder Larry Doby's glove before it hit the wall for a double that scored Busby

A line single by Busby in the seventh was the Senators' only other hit

The run offset a marker Cleveland got in the first inning Bob Avila walked and took second on McDermott Doby singled to left to bring Avila home

Smith led off the eighth with the clout down the left field line

Al Rosen hasn't had a hit since Sunday, nor has catcher Jim Hegan Rosen is 0-for-13, Hegan 0-for-12

The Indians' remaining home night games will be started at 8 o'clock instead of 8 30 It's an experiment similar to the 8 15 p m starting time tried last year for after-dark ball games at Municipal Stadium If the fans like it the earlier hour may be adopted

Lopez Aiming To Top Yanks In Season Play

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cleveland Manager Al Lopez said today he'd sure like to do what no team has been able to do for years Win a season series from the New York Yankees

No one has taken a series from the Yankees since Casey Stengel took over as manager of that club six years ago Lopez's Cleveland Indians came the closest last season when they split their 22 games with the New Yorkers

The two clubs still have five games to play against each other The Yankees up to this point hold a 9 8 game edge Lopez said he won't be satisfied unless he can break Stengel's remarkable record

Someone noted that the law of averages was running in Lopez's favor, but the Cleveland manager scoffed at that

'They told me the law of averages was running for Washington in their games against us," Lopez recalled

The Senators have won only three of 19 games from the Indians this season Last night the Indians ignored the law of averages and won a 2-1 game from the Senators

Milwaukee, Giants Open Vital Series

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The next five days will tell the story of the 1954 National League pennant race

The front-running New York Giants open a two-game series against Charlie Grimm's Milwaukee Braves, the league's hottest team, tonight with the second-place Brooklyn Dodgers moving in for four starting with a Sunday double header

The Braves boasting 30 victories and only 10 losses since the All-Star break July 13, will throw long Gene Conley (13-6) and veteran Warren Spahn (15-10) against the Giants in their determined drive for the flag Sal (The Barber) Maglie and Ruben Gomez were the likely New York choices

The Giants who held a commanding 15½ game lead when the Braves opened up their drive, were down to only 6½ when they moved into the vital series The Braves have beaten the league leaders in their last six meetings, sweeping three-game series both here and at New York

'If we're gonna win it we gotta win it here' Grimm repeated again yesterday after the Braves had won their fourth in a row, beating Philadelphia 3-2

The Braves themselves, despite a modest record of 32 wins and 28 losses in County Stadium, figure they can do it As a matter of fact, they've thought it since the last time the Giants were due in back in mid-July. And with Bobby Thomson in the regular lineup for the first time since his spring training ankle fracture, the spirit is even higher

"He's a great guy," said Grimm "He's got it and the other guys know it That helps, plenty, when you've got to win to keep going"

Physical Director To Attend National Aquatics Meeting

Vern Miller, YMCA physical director will attend the National YMCA Aquatic Conference next week at Michigan State College at East Lansing, Mich

Delegates from the United States and Canada, representing various areas of the national program will meet for a week's evaluation and appraisal of the program

Dr Thomas Cureton, chairman of the National YMCA Aquatic Committee and director of physical education at the University of Illinois, will present the major theme on "The Value of Swimming in Physical Fitness" His report will highlight ten years of research in the effects of swimming on basal metabolism circulation heart muscle growth and development

The conference will confirm the new YMCA life saving program which has been in effect for three years on a trial basis The group will re-emphasize the need for survival techniques as a part of the aquatic training for all beginning and intermediate swimmers

The conference committee will also present work-shops in the national progressive tests for teenagers and to develop a new series of skills which would act as a prerequisite to Life Saving program

Miller will present a manuscript and pictorial presentation of methods used in the instruction of Physical Handicapped persons

FINN BEATS RUSSIANS IN EUROPEAN MARATHON. Finland's Veiko Karvonen (left), Russia's Boris Grischaev (center), and Ivan Filin (right), race through Bern, Switzerland, stadium near finish of 26-mile, 385-yard marathon of the fifth European games Karvonen finished first Grischaev second and Filin third Filin might have been the winner because he was first to enter the stadium, but, running to the left instead of to the right he had to circle back to catch up with the leaders

Compete at Bern

Red Track, Field Team Has Stars, Lacks Depth

BERN Switzerland (AP)—Just how far have the Russians come since Helsinki in their calculated drive to build a track and field team that can rival America in Olympic competition?

They have made marked progress, it's true as results in two days of competition in the European Track and Field Championships here have shown

But they still lack depth once you get past their outstanding stars

And you need those seconds and thirds in world class competition

The Soviets also don't appear to have a well-rounded squad when they face the outside world

Here yesterday at Neufeld Stadium they failed to place a man in the 100-meter final

Winner Heinz Futterer of Germany had a time of 10 5 and he was the only finalist who could measure up against America's crack sprinters

Such top Russian men as hop, step and jump world record holder Leonid Scherbakov and 400-meter hurdles world beater Yryj Lituev appear able to hold their places as No 1 in their specialties Ardalion Ignatjev ran 400 meters almost coasting in 47 flat in the semifinal and looks capable of battling anyone for first place

But there's no one too outstanding in the 800 or 1 500 meters.

Eugeni Bulanchik, bald 110-meter hurdler may win the European title here for he's not in the class of American hurdlers

Most titles still are to be decided but Russia has entered nobody of importance in the high or broad jumps

They boast world class men in the javelin and hammer and hammer and athletes of substance in the shot and discus

Russia still has two more years before the Melbourne Olympics in 1956 They have come along well since 1952 and the next years of competition against the outside world should bear results.

Erie Club Wins To Keep Lead

Erie No 1 retained its unbeaten status by blanking Marion Meta 4-0 last night in Industrial League No 1 softball at Garfield Park

Meanwhile Marion Power Shovel remained right on Erie's heels with a 7-0 forfeit win over OSCO In the remaining contest, both UAW 1039 and Marion Engineer Depot failed to show up for their game. Both teams were given a loss

Jim Kunkle hurled the Railroad men to the win as he tossed a two-hitter His team mates gave him all the protection he needed in the second when Erie scored twice on a hit, a walk, an error and an outfield fly Two more markers in the fourth on four hits and an error concluded the scoring

Baker of the losers was tapped for six hits, Paul Daum netting two of them

An Erie win next week over Local 750 would give it the second round title

A loss by the Railroadmen, coupled with a Shovel win over Marion Metal would leave both squads tied for the second round title

Rained out Commercial League games earlier this week are scheduled tonight Eagles meet Carl's Auto Parts in the 6 15 p m opener, Smitty's plays Marion Star at 7 30 p m and Marion Merchants meet Mac's Trading Post at 8 45 p m

Wins by Smitty's and Marion Merchants would leave them deadlocked for the last round title

Nuxhall Tries To End Cincy Losing Streak

CINCINNATI (AP) — The sixth-place Cincinnati Reds will try to snap their four-game losing streak tonight in an encounter with the Pittsburgh Pirates

Manager Birdie Tebbetts assigned lefty Joe Nuxhall the Hamilton Ohio hurler, who will be after his fourth straight triumph and his eighth of the season He will be opposed by Bob Friend

The Pirates an easy target for the Reds most of the season will close out their Crosley Field experiences tomorow afternoon The last place club has dropped seven in the Cincinnati field and has come out on top twice

Columbus Jumps To Third Place in Association Race

By The Associated Press

Columbus jumped into third place in the hot American Association playoff berth battle by blanking Kansas City 6-0 last night as Toledo knocked Minneapolis into the fourth spot with a 9-6 decision

With Indianapolis on a stampede to the championship — holding a 12½ game edge—interest centers on the next three spots for playoff positions

Second place Louisville holds a 5½ game bulge over the Red Birds who are ½ game ahead of the Millers

St Paul, Toledo and Kansas City all are only 3½ games out of the first division

Columbus completed a sweep of its four game series with Kansas City as Stu Miller limited the Blue to four singles and struck out eight

A two-run homer in the ninth by catcher Pete Daley gave Louisville a 5-4 edge over St Paul

Indianapolis and Charleston were not scheduled

2,000 Trapshooters Fire In Grand American Event

By FRITZ HOWELL

VANDALIA Ohio (AP)—A record field of more than 2 000 fired today in quest of trapshooting's greatest gold and glory in the 55th Grand American Handicap

The 100-target event in which shooters are placed from 17 to 25 yards back of the traps according to shooting ability, is the feature event of the Grand American's week long barrage here

In keeping with a 54-year tradition some unknown is expected to walk off with the top guaranteed prize of $1 500 and a possible $10 000 payoff if he plays the entire optional system

The title most coveted in the clay target sport never has been won by a woman or an outstanding favorite No one has won it twice and in 54 years only five men have been able to break the entire 100

Winners have ranged from a 14-year old boy to a 70-year old man

Vern Thornborrow 34 year-old from Hamilton Ont put the 'kiss of death' on his chances to win today by taking the preliminary handicap yesterday with a perfect score of 100 from 18 yards Only one man R R Barbee of Paulina, Iowa, has ever won both the preliminary and the Grand American handicaps the same year Barber did it back in 1905

Thornborrow a 5-foot-5, 134-pounder who never before had won any trapshooting award picked up about $5 000 yesterday as he used a second hand shotgun to defeat a field of 1 683 in his first attempt here

His chances to take today's race were further hampered last night as he slept in the back seat of his automobile after being chased from his tent by an all-night rain

Elmer Woods of Williamstown, Ohio who won the preliminary last year with 98 of 100, skidded to 81 yesterday

The women's preliminary title went to Mrs Helen Ryan 34-year-old housewife from Maysville Ky who broke 96 of 100 from the 19-yard line

The junior title went to John Zehmer 16 of Flushing Long Island N Y also with a score of 97, and the professional crown to V L Adkins of Louisville Ky with 96 from 23 yards

John Lilly 13 year-old youngster from Stanton Mich and son of Ned Lilly, last year's high overall champion at the Grand broke 99 from 18 yards to tie two others a target behind Thornborrow's winning score.

Dayton Club Wins Women's Softball Tournament Title

SPRINGFIELD Ohio (AP) — National Cash Register of Dayton winner last night of the Women's State Softball title tonight enters regional play against the West Virginia champ

NCR defeated Dayton Country Kitchen, 8-2 and 6-1, in final state play last night during a heavy rainstorm

One casualty of last night's contest was Jean Reese, Country Kitchen first baseman She received a broken right arm during a first inning tangle of the second game

Browns To Test Rams In Exhibition Football

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The first real pre-season test for two strong National Football League teams comes tonight before some 60 000 fans when the Cleveland Browns clash with the Los Angeles Rams

The Rams, who defeated the Browns 27 9 in a similar exhibition a year ago have been installed as favorites by from seven to 10 points

Two Clevelanders Remain in Amateur Tourney

Meister Duels With Palmer in Play at Detroit

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

DETROIT (AP)—The least noticed and possibly the best, of the prominent golfers in the 1954 National Amateur Championship is Robert Sweeny who moves in the best social financial and golfing circles of Long Island, Palm Beach and London

He's a tall, debonair man with a touch of gray in his hair at the temples and a touch of Oxford in his accent He's an American citizen born in Pasadena, Calif 43 years ago, but he divides his time between this country and England and Europe He has played in the British Amateur Championship many more times than in the American

Going into today's 36-hole semi finals, he was the only "name" player left in the tournament and his name was one that had been half-forgotten by everyone but his opponents until he came through yesterday with a sharp 4 and 3 victory over Dale Morey, last year's runner-up

The other survivors were Arnold Palmer, a 24-year-old former Coast Guardsman and Wake Forest College player who is rated tops among the rising young amateur stars 36-year-old Eddie Meister, who may have won more matches in this tournament than anyone around and Dr Ted Lenczyk 33-year-old Newington Conn, dentist whose golf reputation has been obscured by that of his sister Grace

The semifinal matches sent the two Clevelanders Palmer and Meister against one another, and Sweeny against Lenczyk

Meister has played in 13 U S amateur championships, going as far as the fifth round in 1935 and again in 1952

Palmer was knocked out of his first amateur by Frank Stranahan in the first round in 1950 He gained ample revenge yesterday by eliminating the eager Stranahan 3 and 1 and then going on to beat Don Cherry 1-up, after a tense, erratic struggle

SHARPSHOOTER ELIMINATES STRANAHAN. Arnold Palmer, a sharpshooting young salesman from Cleveland calmly putts on the fourth green during his match with international star Frank Stranahan (right) at Detroit, Mich Palmer accounted for a major upset in the National Amateur tournament when he trimmed Stranahan 3 and 1 Palmer closed out Stranahan with a birdie three on the 460-yard 17th hole just after he had bogeyed the short 16th

Vornholt, Herr To Vie Sunday For Golf Title

Jack Vornholt and Gib Herr are scheduled to meet Sunday in a 36-hole match for the club championship of the Marion Country Club

According to Jack Stoddard Country Club pro this year's club championship marks the first time that a club junior champ has gone into the club championship matches

Herr is the club junior champ He reached the finals by defeating Morey Cornell, Vornholt entered the finals by besting Russ Reichard

Stoddard announced that the next big event at the Country Club will be the annual "men's best ball" tournament over the Labor Day weekend In a 36-hole tournament, golfers will be playing with handicap The best score from each hole by the partners will go toward the 36-hole total, Stoddard explained

4 Lettermen Back

Marysville Grid Coach Faces Rebuilding Task

MARYSVILLE — With only four lettermen returning from last year's undefeated Mid-Six League champions, Marysville Coach Bob Lewis says he will have a big rebuilding job this fall

Practice opened last week with only one backfield letter winner a defensive man left to form the basis of the 1954 offense A total of 42 were out for the initial practice sessions and the entire squad appears in good physical condition, the coach reports

Howard Payne, who played one game on offense last season, will be the starting quarterback in the split T used by Lewis Four lightweight halfbacks, Larry Fox Dwight Shuler Jim Barnhart and Ed George will alternate at those positions

All are fast but none of the four will top 140 pounds Fox is probably the best long passer

Bob Browning, a 180 pound sprinter will be at fullback and Coach Lewis is counting on him to provide the spark to make the Monarchs dangerous again this year He didn't letter last year but looked good in reserve games

In the line, two offensive ends, Larry Coder and Ed Nicol, are back and will play both ways this season Jim Bradley will be number three wingman Larry Easton is a two-way veteran at tackle and will be the mainstay of the middle line

Ronnie Peoples is expected to standout at guard The center position, one guard and a tackle post are still wide open

Over the past five year period Marysville grid teams have compiled a record of 35 wins six losses, and three ties They will also be playing before a new 800-seat concrete bleacher section this fall.

BETTER THAN BEER?

can it be?

Try Carling's Red Cap Ale

...and see!

At Carling's we brew both beer and ale—and each is mighty popular. But more and more people are telling us Carling's Red Cap Ale gives them more pleasure than any beer they ever tasted. They say it's light and dry as the smoothest beer, yet with that extra flavor—that "heart" which only a fine ale can provide! They call it the "light-hearted" ale.

Tonight, why not try it? See whether you are one of those who find Carling's Red Cap Ale tastes even better than beer!

Thomson-Antonelli Deal Vital in Race

Braves Helped By Outfielder's Timely Hitting

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

The Bobby Thompson-Johnny Antonelli winter trade between New York and Milwaukee is shaping up more and more as the key to the 1954 National League pennant.

It's been almost all in the Giants' favor so far. Thomson broke his ankle during spring training and has been benched as a regular until this week. But tonight and tomorrow the Braves get their chance to reap a few dividends.

Milwaukee has beaten New York six in a row and when the Giants invade County Stadium for this two-game series, they'll find Thomson fit and ready for the first time.

The Scots-born outfielder, a hustler with a natural flair for inspiring his mates, personally accounted for the first victory in the Braves' string over the Giants when he drove in the winning run as a pinch hitter in Milwaukee July 23.

In his second game in the starting lineup he drilled two doubles and a single yesterday as the Braves edged Philadelphia 3-2 and crept within 6½ games of the Giants.

Antonelli, the Giants' prize in the deal, won't show against his former mates. He worked yesterday, winning his 19th game by shading the Chicago Cubs 2-1 in the second half of a double-header. The Cubs snapped a seven-game New York winning splurge with a 4-3 verdict in the opener.

Second-place Brooklyn, 3½ behind New York, was idle yesterday but opens a two-game series in St. Louis tonight.

The Cardinals held on to fourth place last night although they lost 2-1 to Pittsburgh. Jerry Lynch drove in both runs and bonus rookie Laurin Pepper recorded his first major league victory.

In the American League, Cleveland edged Washington 2-1, New York thumped Detroit 11-2, Chicago split with the Philadelphia Athletics, winning 8-1 but losing 4-1, and Baltimore broke its 14-game losing streak, defeating Boston 5-3.

The Indians, who lead the Yankees by 4½ games, needed an eight-inning homer by Al Smith to down the Senators although Early Wynn gave up just two hits in registering his 18th triumph.

Irv Noren, American League batting leader, slammed four hits in New York's runaway against the Tigers. Bob Grim gave up eight hits in winning his 17th game, tops on the Yankee staff, and was backed by a 17-hit attack.

Sandy Consuegra won No. 16 for Chicago in the opener at Philadelphia but the White Sox fell nine games behind Cleveland when Bill Renna hit a two-run homer and Joe DeMaestri a two-run triple in the second game.

The Orioles pounded eight doubles and four singles in breaking out of their losing streak at Boston. Bob Turley blanked the Red Sox until the eighth, when Ted Williams homered into the right field stands. The blast was the 24th of the season for Williams and the 361st of his career, putting him in a tie with Joe DiMaggio for fifth in the all-time list.

Milwaukee's victory came in the last of the ninth inning when Danny O'Connell slashed a bases-loaded single with two out off loser Herm Wehmeier.

Nelson, Crowley To Broadcast

Televised Canadian Grid Games Start on Saturday

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — The great Canadian football experiment is only two days away, and the ones who are doing the most sweating about it as the fateful hour approaches are the two American "experts" who have been entrusted with the task of explaining to a nationwide television audience what in the world is going on.

High in a booth all by themselves when the Toronto and Ottawa professionals have at one another on Saturday afternoon will be Lindsey Nelson, NBC's able commentator, and Jim Crowley, who learned considerable American football as a member of Notre Dame's famous "Four Horsemen," as coach at Fordham and as president of the All-American Conference, deceased.

Nelson will be expected to call off the play-by-play, or a reasonable facsimile thereof, for his American audience, and Crowley to supply the "color" during periods when there's no action on the field. After thinking it over carefully, they've decided not to have a Canadian within speaking distance.

"It would only confuse things," Nelson explains, "to have a Canadian expert coming on every now and then and saying that it hadn't happened quite the way Jim and I told it. We don't want anybody second-guessing us."

The gridiron explorers were up North last week to watch an exhibition game and to see if all their reading-up on the Canadian rules had really sunk in. Crowley's eyes popped when one of the teams, taking advantage of the wider Canadian playing field, suddenly ripped off a triple lateral pass that carried out to the sideline and sprang a man free.

"I'll bet your Fordham teams never tossed the ball around like that," a Canadian enthusiast remarked to Crowley.

"Not intentionally, anyway," Jim replied, properly awed.

Actually, neither of our nervous experts exects to have too much trouble interpreting the Canadian version unless something unusually peculiar happens, and both of them think the American audience is going to like the swifter moving game very much after a brief indoctrination.

"There really isn't a great deal of difference once you get beyond the fact that there's a fifth man in the backfield and that they get only three chances to make a first down instead of four," Nelson says. "There are a lot of other little differences that Jim and I will have to watch for, but they won't mean a lot to the audience."

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Jack Rombough went into the police station to pay a traffic fine. While he was there, a thief stole a new pair of trousers from his parked car.

"IT'S FOOLISH TO HURRY YOUR LUNCH"

Almost every day some doctor gives this simple advice to a patient. Relax, brother, the world isn't going to stop if you spend a full hour lunching leisurely at the Ritz. Bring your friends with you. No phone calls to distract you, a friendly waiter to take and fill your order, and who knows, you may pick up a big order or close a tough contract during that lunch hour.

Entries To Be Statewide In 1954 Richwood Fair

RICHWOOD — Entries from all over the state are expected in the annual Richwood Fair which will open Sept. 4 and continue over the Labor Day weekend.

Junior fair judging will open the three-day fair program on Saturday, Sept. 4, at 9 a.m. and in the afternoon there will be harness racing, three races, including a two-year-old trot, 30 class, 2:24 trot and 2:24 pace, are scheduled for the first afternoon of racing with $500 purses to be awarded in each event.

On Saturday night, a variety show including a clown act, a hillbilly group, a dog show, skating act and others, will be held in front of the grandstand.

Beginning at 9 a.m. and lasting until noon on Sunday, Sept. 5, baton twirlers from all over the United States and Canada will be featured in a national contest. From 12 15 to 12:45 p.m., a religious service will be held at the grandstand.

FROM 1-2:30 P.M., a program will be provided by Shellhorn's Music Store of Marion, Chuck Boblenz' band from LaRue, the McClead String Band from Marion, a hillbilly troupe and a singing act.

At 2:30 on Sunday, the Fairy Wonderland parade with 11 different divisions will take the spotlight. Divisions of the parade will include: pet, military and marching units, official guests, decorated convertibles, riding horses, antique autos, floats, school groups classified by age, bands, majorette and commercial. Over 100 trophies will be awarded for outstanding entries.

Beauty queen titles will be bestowed upon winning entries in three different divisions when the beauty contest gets under way at 4 p.m. on the stage in front of the grandstand. Queens will be named as follows: Beauty Queen of the Richwood Fair, Richwood Fair Bathing Beauty of 1954 and Richwood Fair Majorette Beauty.

THE STRUTTING contest and mass twirling demonstration at 4:30 p.m. will be followed by the out-of-state talent show from 5:30-7:30 p.m. All persons rating an A or B will be invited to join the National Talent Association of America. A special program will be given at 8 p.m. by the Buckeye Four, Marion Eagles quartet, which has won national recognition.

A special all-Ohio talent contest will be held from 8:30 until 10 p.m. with trophies being awarded. A fire baton twirling demonstration will wind up the program at 10 p.m. on Sunday.

Monday's schedule will start off with open class judging at 9 a.m. In the afternoon, there will be four harness races, a two-year-old pace, 2:20 pace, 2:20 trot and 2:16 pace with purses of $500 each. A livestock and farm machinery parade will be held at 7 p.m. and auto racing is slated to begin at 8 p.m.

Tickets for the fair are being sold this year under a new system. A family may purchase a ticket good for all three days for $3. Single admission at the gate will be .75. No charge will be made at the grandstand at anytime.

ALL ENTRIES MUST BE in place by 7 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 4, when judging of junior fair exhibits will begin A large rotating trophy will be presented to the winning Grange exhibit by the Walton and Case Elevator of Richwood. 3 Pachucoites Are Discovered At Lockbourne

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Questioning of three airmen about activities of a secret terror society—"Pachuco"—continued at nearby Lockbourne Air Force Base today.

Air Force officials said the three were uncloaked yesterday as members of the society dedicated to violence. Names of the three, all in the stockade on charges of being AWOL, were not released.

Discovery of the trio came after Brig. Gen. Hewitt T. Wheless ordered screening of stockade prisoners and "known troublemakers".

The inquiry here followed the first big expose of "Pachuco" among airmen at Chanute Air Force Base in Illinois. A roundup there disclosed over 100 members, investigators said.

Members of the society often are identified by a tattoo of a cross mounted by a halo, sometimes etched into the palm of the hand.

Gen. Wheless said there has been no trouble at the base. He termed the investigation and search a precautionary measure.

BOY'S BODY FOUND

PIQUA, Ohio (AP)—The body of Leroy Francis, 11, of Piqua was found yesterday in Laramie Creek. The coroner had returned no verdict early today.

WOMAN ELECTROCUTED

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Sarah Spies, 39, of nearby Franklin, handled a defective floor lamp while washing a basement floor and was electrocuted yesterday. She had been working without shoes or stockings.

He is the son of Mrs. Claudine Griffith of near Marion and Frank Rasey of Davids St. Entering the service on Nov. 12, 1952, he took his basic training at Camp Breckenride, Ky., and just returned to the United States after 14 months duty in Korea with the 7th Infantry Division.

Pvt. Roger E. Augenstein of near Edison has completed the armor track vehicle maintenance course at the armored school at Ft. Riley, Kan., early in September enlisted personnel to perform organizational maintenance and recovery of track vehicles issued to armor units. Augenstein's wife, Melba, resides near Edison.

Capt. Fred Regner of Marion left Monday for Parks Air Force Base, Calif., from where he will leave for a three-year tour of duty in the Far East. He formerly was with the 85th Fighter Squadron at Scott Air Force Base, Ill., where he was stationed the past two years. His wife, Avis, and four children who reside at 402 Mary St. plan to join Capt. Regner at his new assignment.

A native of Wisconsin, Regner has been in the service the past 12 years and served in the European Theatre during World War II. Prior to the Scott assignment, he was stationed at Selfridge Field, Mich., for over two years and then spent two years in Marion as an employe of the Bordon Co. before being recalled to active duty. His wife is the former Avis Lill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lill of near Morral.

Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Notes for Radio Drama

There seems to be a small trend I'd like to explore today toward a higher level of culture on radio these days. And what's more important it seems to be paying off. Prime exhibit is "Gunsmoke," (9 p.m. EDT Monday) CBS's highly literate Western radio drama which has been called the "High Noon" of broadcasting.

J. CROSBY

"Gunsmoke's" plots are characterized by realism, intelligence, and honest characterization. Perhaps its most surprising aspect is that its hero, Marshal Mat Dillon, whose job is to keep order in Dodge City, Kan., is cast in something less than heroic mold — at least not in the tradition of Hopalong Cassidy. Marshal Dillon (William Conrad) is a composite of some of the most famous men of the early West — Wild Bill Hickock, Bat Masterson, Wyatt Earp and the Younger Brothers.

Norman MacDonnell, producer-director of the program, says of him "He is a lonely, sad, tragic man—a quiet, unhappy, confused marshal. These days, we'd send him to an analyst." Shades of William S. Hart! The gratifying thing about "Gunsmoke," which is as far removed from the average Western as "Dragnet" is from the average cops - and - robbers epics, is that it has attracted a healthy audience and a wealthy sponsor. It was fourth in the last Nielsen rating, which just goes to show that there are more eggheads around than you might suppose.

THE LOCAL radio scene here in New York hardly rates unqualified indorsement. As one publicist put it, there is hardly a moment in the day or night when at least a dozen New York stations are not playing the top ten records. But there are some bright spots.

WOR, for instance, has just shelled out more than half a million dollars for transcribed dramatizations of the classics to be used on its "WOR Radio Playhouse" in 1955. This is not high-minded realism, either, but commercial hard-headedness. Tests conducted by the station during last season showed WOR that the classics attract an audience just as big as sometimes bigger than the ones featuring Hollywood names.

Gordon Gray, general manager of WOR, says "We have had a year to test the pulling and selling power of this format and our new outlay testifies to confidence in this formula. The greater emphasis on classics is a result of our policy of keeping a constant finger on the pulse of the public. Rather than condensing classics into nearly unrecognizable form, as is all too frequently done on television, we are offering full two-and-a-half hour versions of major Shakespeare plays and 26 half - hour chapters of Dickens' "Barnaby Rudge" and "Bleak House.'"

WOR plans to air the series half an hour, five times a week, in the daytime (3:55 to 4:25 p.m.) and again at night (10:30) which means 520 half-hours of classical programs over the year.

ANOTHER RADIO show of a high level of maturity is NBC's "Conversation," (7:30 p.m. EDT Sunday) and it has attracted not only a respectable audience but a very devoted one. The letters that have come in are several cuts higher in literacy and intelligence than those that generally greet radio entertainment.

Here are some quotes from them. " 'Conversation' offers us an adult oasis in a desert of noisy programs."

"We again have a program for the thinking group of college graduates."

"Now we're glad we didn't buy a television set."

"Please send me a transcript which I would like to include in a graduate report in the field of psychology that I am writing in my off-hours." That one from a soldier.

"It helps to make up for the intellectual semi-starvation that most of eggheads suffer in the world of so-called reality."

ONE UNEXPECTED result of the "Conversation" program is that it has spurred Norman Dine, who runs Lewis and Conger's famous "Sleep Shop," into creating a "Tete A Tete Bed" which he plans to unveil soon. The "Tete A Tete Bed," says Mr. Dine, who has been crusading these many years now to persuade people to spend more time in bed, is designed to promote cultural exchange.

Well, that's what he says, anyhow.

Prisoner Tripped By Inscription on Stolen Wristwatch

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Warden Alvin Wangner of Newark Street Jail admired the expensive gold wristwatch worn by one of his prisoners, 44-year-old Acie Carter.

He asked for a look.

The inscription on the watch case read "Presented to William Livett for a quarter-century service at Celanese Corporation—1951."

Carter admitted "a man named Jimmie sold the watch to me for $40."

Police found that the watch belonged to Livett, a Newark man, who said he was mugged by three men Dec. 27, 1952.

Carter, jailed for arraignment on a morals charge, now faces an additional charge, that of receiving stolen property.

Car Thief Hits Jackpot

MARLBORO, Mass. (AP)—Someone is driving a stolen car around the country without having much worry about buying gasoline.

That's indicated by gasoline bills received from 15 states by John L. Whelpley. His credit card, along with three blank checks, was stolen a month ago.

The car used by the thief was reported stolen July 28 in Putnam, Conn., from Emile P. Marquis of Webster, Mass.

The three checks, forged, were used to buy shoes, lodgings in a Framingham hotel and a bottle of liquor.

Bomber Crash Kills 8 Airmen in California

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Eight airmen were killed when their twin-engine B25 hit a mountain in rugged northern Napa County yesterday.

The bodies were found last night.

The bomber had left nearby Mather Air Force Base Wednesday evening on a routine training flight.

The cause of the crash has not been determined.

2 DROWN NEAR CHARDON

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—A boat upset last night on Punderson Lake and a man and a woman drowned. Both bodies were recovered. Papers found on the man's body identified him as Ernest Van Volsem, 47, of Mayfield Heights near Cleveland. The woman was believed to be his wife, Clothilda.

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market displayed a higher tendency today despite a laggard performance by the railroads.

Many gains in key areas went to between 1 and 3 points. Losses were around a point at the worst.

Trading was quiet. The pace was less than two million shares for the day. Yesterday's total in a falling market was 2,060,000 shares.

The steels, aircrafts, oils, and some motors were higher. The railroads were down on average. Montgomery Ward jumped ahead 2⅛ at 78 on an opening block of 7,500 shares but did most of its trading around 77.

Food Fair was strong. A recent earnings report was excellent. Also higher were Bethlehem Steel, Crucible Stl, Gneral Motors, North American Aviation, Glenn Martin, Radio Corp., Consolidared Natural Gas, E. W. Bliss, Barber Oil, and Hiram Walker.

For Sale!!
THE OLD Farm Bureau BUILDINGS
at 175 Park Blvd.
Marion, Ohio

Our new facilities on Bellefontaine Avenue are virtually completed. We are offering for sale the following buildings at 175 Park Boulevard, Marion, Ohio; which are located on property belonging to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

Sealed bids will be received until—

12 noon on September 15, 1954

The successful bidder must have the buildings removed and the site cleared no later than November 1, 1954.

The board of directors reserves the right to reject any or all bids submitted.

Four Buildings

1. The office building, measuring approximately 16 ft x 34 ft., single story, frame construction. This building is divided into three rooms. Could easily be moved as a unit, and used as a dwelling. Doors, windows, and wiring included. Light fixtures excluded.

2 and 3. Two government type grain bins, of frame, pre-fabricated construction. Each bin measures approximately 12 ft. x 16 ft., and can easily be dismantled, or moved as a unit.

4. The store and warehouse: a two story building measuring approximately 24 ft. x 44 ft. This building will yield much high grade salvage, including a fine hardwood floor, first grade framing lumber and siding. All doors, windows, wiring and plumbing included. Light fixtures excluded. Passage way to office included.

A separate bid should be submitted for each building, and bids should be directed to George Harper, secretary, The Board of Directors.

Kiwanis Hears Explanation of Charter Plans

Marion Kiwanis Club members heard a discussion on the City Charter, which will confront voters at the November election, at their weekly luncheon meeting Thursday at Hotel Harding.

Speaker was Walter Moore, who headed the Charter Commission which recently concluded a nine-month job of writing the city charter.

He spoke of the various phases which the charter involves and told his audience of its merits. He also discussed a number of problems the commission members faced in writing the charter.

Following his talk, a general discussion of the proposed charter was held with members of the club given an opportunity to ask questions.

Mr. Moore also reminded the Kiwanians that at least 30 days prior to the election every voter will receive a copy of the charter, and he urged that everyone give it a thorough reading before deciding to approve or oppose the charter.

Visiting Kiwanians included Emery McGalaughlin of Clare, Mich., Sheridan T. Walker of Mount Gilead, and Del Beckerat of Columbus. A guest was James Smoot of Marion.

Ohio Fuel Gas Co. Building New Line

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Fuel Gas Co. said today work is under way on a $39,000 pipeline project to extend natural gas service to the Miracle Mile subdivision and the area northeast of Springfield.

The company said the new line will provide gas service to the area north of the corporation line and east of Urbana Pike.

Completion of a $296,000 pipeline project to improve gas service in several northern Ohio towns also was announced. Seven and a half miles of one of the firm's main transmission lines between Berlin Heights in Erie County and Norwalk in Huron County have been replaced with new and larger pipes. The new line has the capacity to deliver larger quantities of gas to Norwalk, Milan, Monroeville, Bellevue, Clyde and part of Fremont.

REPAIRMAN ELECTROCUTED

CINCINNATI (AP)—A furnace repairman plugged an electric hand drill into an extension cord and was electrocuted yesterday. The death of Herbert Carvelink, 59, of adjoining Norwood, was the second in two days in the Cincinnati area caused by electricity.

Reserve Airfields Planned

Air Force To Look Over Ravenna Site for Bases

WASHINGTN (AP)—Air Force officials laid plans today to send an inspection team to Ohio to size up the Ravenna Arsenal grounds as a possible site for two reserve air bases.

Originally military plans called for these separate facilities to train northern Ohio fliers

1. A jet fighter bomber squadron of 26 planes at Youngstown Municipal Airport at Vienna, Ohio, with a completion date of early 1956.

2. A troop carrier facility somewhere between Akron and Cleveland, the land to be purchased this year or next.

But a delegation from Youngstown, headed by Mayor Francis X. Fryzan, vehemently protested any additional military planes at their airport in a Pentagon meeting yesterday.

After about two hours, Maj. Gen. William E. Hall finally agreed to consider the 20,000-acre Ravenna grounds for both facilities.

Just when the survey team will go to Ravenna is uncertain.

Air Force Undersecretary Bradley Nash told a reporter he thought the team could go "within 24 hours."

However, Rep. Oliver P. Bolton (R-Ohio), who sponsored the arsenal grounds proposal, said he hoped the team would go next Tuesday or shortly after that.

Bolton wants to accompany the officers in the hope of convincing them the site would be the most convenient place in northern Ohio.

By that, Bolton told Hall at yesterday's meeting, he means that in terms of driving time reservists from Cleveland, Akron and Youngstown, all could get there in an hour or less.

The reason for this, he said, is that Ohio is building or planning to build new high-speed turnpikes.

Should the military reject Ravenna as a site, Nash said there still is a possibility Youngstown might not get the new squadron.

This could happen, he said, if some other site between Cleveland and Akron were found for the troop carrier facility and it were found possible to put the squadron there as well.

But he said this site would have to be picked quickly.

One big objection Hall and Nash had to building a separate facility, instead of locating at Youngstown was the cost.

Hall said it would cost only $1,950,000 to expand existing equipment at the Youngstown airport, but 15 million dollars to build a separate airport.

Local Woman Becomes Ill on Canadian Trip

Stricken ill while on vacation in Canada, Mrs. George Gottfried of 214 Chicago Ave. is being returned to Marion by a Schaffner - Denzer ambulance. The word of her illness was received early yesterday and the ambulance drivers left here at 4:30 a.m., with return expected tonight. Mrs. Gottfried suffered a stroke at the Gottfried fishing cottage on Parry Sound in Ontario, her daughter, Mrs. Albert Knickle of 226 Chicago Ave., said. The Gottfrieds had been in Canada about two weeks.

South African Dog Knows the Answers

JOHANNESBURG (UP) — A two-year-old dachshund, Kina, who can count, add and subtract, is the current sensation of the South African dog world.

Kina gives her answers to simple sums set in the Afrikaans language by her owner, Arent ter Weeme, a Hollander. If he asks Kina, "How many?" the correct answer is given in barks.

If he adds a threepenny piece and asks for the solution in pennies Kina again knows all the answers.

But that is kid stuff to this dog.

"How many do four and two make?," ter Weeme will ask.

Six woofs are the confident answer.

"And five minus two?"

Kina barks three times.

If a number up to 10 is whispered by a visitor, Kina barks the correct reply. Her master claims Kina has most actue hearing.

He says he has no idea how the dog does her sums. He has been training her since she was six months old.

Two Wyandot FFA Members Chosen American Farmers

UPPER SANDUSKY — Glen A. Thiel of near Upper Sandusky and John A. Wilson of Forest have been named with eight other Future Farmers of America to receive the organization's highest degree, American Farmer, at the national convention in Kansas City, Oct. 11-14.

American Farmer degrees are awarded only to FFA members at least one year out of high school and successfully established in farming. The awards are dependent on good records in farming, leadership and scholarship.

The award winners will receive a certificate and a gold key from the organization plus a $50 check from the FFA Foundation.

RECOVER BODY

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Firemen yesterday recovered the body of Edna Mae McKinley, 11, of North Kenova, Ohio, from the Ohio River. She had gone wading in the river Wednesday.

Couple Found Dead at Canton

Seek Motive in Death Of Widow, Boarder

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—A 54-year-old widow and a widower who boarded at her home were found dead there yesterday. Coroner E. B. Mozes ruled the man shot himself, but said an autopsy was needed to determine the cause of the woman's death.

Yesterday was the woman's birthday, and a handmade birthday card from the boarder was found on her ironing board, with a handkerchief inside.

Mrs. Myrtle Ann Groner, a widow since last April, was found in her upstairs bedroom with bruises and fingernail marks on her neck.

The body of Bruce Walker, 53, was in another upstairs bedroom. His right temple was pierced by a bullet from a gun found on the floor.

Coroner Mozes said Walker had been despondent since his wife died and had been given a room by Mrs. Groner in an effort to cheer him up.

A neighbor, Mrs. W. E. Giblow, discovered the bodies after her phone calls to the house were not answered.

Legal Aspects Unclear

Deputy Attorney General Ponders Anti-Red Laws

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Things were pretty tidy when William F. Tompkins came to Washington last July. His work seemed fairly well cut out for him.

The Eisenhower administration had just made him an assistant attorney general and put him in charge of a brand new section in the Justice Department: the Division of Internal Security. His new job was to prosecute Communists and subversives in general.

He is 41 and not a novice as a prosecutor. He's tall, with a lean and friendly face, and an unpompous manner.

When the new Republican administration took over here in 1953 it picked Tompkins—he had been a member of the New Jersey Assembly—to be U.S. attorney for all of New Jersey.

WITH A GREAT DEAL of energy he recruited a staff to work against racketeers and so impressed the administration it tapped him for bigger things. Atty. Gen. Brownell brought him here.

The President nominated him in May and he took office July 9. The reason his work seemed fairly well cut out for him was this: There were then just two main laws on the books for the government to use against Communists.

It seemed, when Tompkins took over, that all he had to do so, so far as laws went, was to master those two well enough to give the Communists an even greater dose of the miseries. After all, the government had been using them for years.

One was the Smith Act, passed in 1940. Through this one squad of Communist leaders had been tried, convicted and sent to the penitentiary. The other was the McCarran Internal Security Act of 1950.

The government has been using the McCarran law for four years in an effort to make Communists register. The Communists are fighting it in the courts. The Supreme Court won't give a final verdict on its constitutionality before next spring.

THE EISENHOWER administration through Brownell, long before Tompkins got here, had asked Congress for a few more laws. Not blockbusters. Just a few laws to tighten up on communism.

The one thing the administration didn't want, at least now, was a new act outlawing the Communist party or making membership in it a crime. Not that the administration wouldn't have welcomed it some other time.

But right now it might wreck prosecutions being planned under the Smith Act and the four years' work already put in on the McCarran Act. When Tompkins took office there was no reason to feel Congress might pass an outlaw bill this year. Talk of it had died down in Congress.

On the afternoon of Aug. 12, as Congress rushed toward adjournment, a reporter and Tompkins sat in Tompkins' office discussing the administration's reasons for not wanting a law flatly banning the Communist party now.

Just as the reporter returned to his own office a bulletin came in from the Capitol. It said the Senate had just voted to outlaw the party. The astonished newsman phoned Tompkins to tell him the news. Tompkins was astonished too.

NEITHER TOMPKINS nor the administration had dreamed that afternoon of what was cooking.

Senate Republicans were pushing a measure to hobble Communist-infiltrated unions when the Democrats suddenly said in effect "Let's go all the way and outlaw the party."

The Republicans, not unmindful that this is an election year, apparently thought they had no place to go except along with the Democrats.

The Justice Department and the administration spent the next week trying to get Congress to tone down the Senate bill which, if it became law in the form first passed by the Senate, might make hash of the Smith and McCarran acts.

Congress finally passed, and Eisenhower signed into law, an act which doesn't say the Communist party must cease to exist and which doesn't say it's a crime to be a Communist.

Right there is where the comparatively tidy world Tompkins walked into on July 9 suddenly became untidily complicated. He and his staff are still trying to figure out just what this new law means and how they can use it against Communists.

WAC Vets Have Difficulty Getting Into Uniforms, Too

WASHINGTON (AP)—Women soldiers who helped Uncle Sam win World War II took their measure today and found they can throw around a lot more weight.

But that realization isn't adding to the cheer of the WAC Veterans Assn. gathered here for its eighth annual convention, a two-day affair ending tomorrow.

Former WAC Capt. Violette Powers Duffie of Silver Spring, Md., the convention chairman, complained she had saved her wartime uniform but couldn't get into it.

"Anyone who believes that old soldiers just fade away should ask his wife to put on her old WAC uniform," she sighed.

ANCHORS STOLEN

LONG BEACH (AP)—The Alaska Pipe and Salvage Co. told police yesterday that somebody stole 40 anchors, each weighing 40 pounds and valued at $20, from its storage yard.

Jury Proposes Suburbs Pay For Crime Help

See Cuyahoga Move Aimed at Correcting Sheppard Case Delay

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cuyahoga County Grand Jury which indicted Dr. Samuel Sheppard on a murder charge recommended yesterday that Cleveland suburbs pay this city's police department an annual retainer for aid in solving major crimes.

"Municipalities surrounding Cleveland have used the services of the Cleveland Police Scientific Bureau at no cost to them but at a considerable cost to the City of Cleveland. We feel that it is an unfair burden on Cleveland to foot the entire cost," the jury said.

While the jury did not mention the Sheppard case by name, it referred to "a recent, shocking murder case." And in an obvious reference to the authorities of Bay Village, the home of the handsome osteopath, the jury wrote: "Finally, in desperation, they turned to Cleveland police for help, but long after the trail had grown cold."

It has been estimated that Cleveland police will ask Bay Village for about $20,000 for their help in investigating the case.

In addition to an annual retaining fee, Cleveland police should get a predetermined amount per case, the jury report said.

Dr. Shppard is awaiting trial on a first degree murder charge. His pregnant wife, Marilyn, was found bludgeoned to death July 4 in their lakeshore home. He has pleaded innocent, maintaining his wife was killed by an intruder.

Color Film To Be Seen At Park Tent Services

Tomorrow night's religious moving picture at the Gospel Tent in Garfield Park, sponsored by the Maranatha Bible Church, will be "The Missing Christians." It is an Evangel Films production based on Scripture prophecy and portrays teaching about the "Rapture of the church and the need of receiving Christ as Savior," in color and sound. The story concerns the conversion of a daughter from world pleasures as the result of a dream in which she witnesses the disappearance in the clouds of her mother, sister, and brother when Christians are taken from the world according to prophecy in the Bible. There will be an hour of special music and fellowship directed by Rev. George Zinn and including local musicians.

HEADS ACHIEVERS

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — The new president of the National Achievers Conference is Donald (Duke) Smith, 17-year-old South Bend, Ind., high school student. Elected yesterday, he will be installed today. Named to the "Junior Achievement management team of the year" was William Moser of (1427 Brooklyn Ave. S. W.) Canton, Ohio. His work as a production manager brought him the honor. Junior Achievers are high school boys and girls organized into business corporations.

Mercury Skids To 32 as Frost Hits Michigan

By The Associated Press

There was a touch of autumn in some of the northern states today but it looked like more hot and humid weather for most of the southern half of the country.

It was freezing weather in sections of Michigan today. Temperatures dropped to 32 early today in Grand Marais, on Lake Superior, and at Pellston, in the northern Lower Peninsula. At the same time it was 77 in Atlanta.

There was widespread cooling in the northeast quarter of the country as the cool Canadian air moved in from the north central region. The cool belt extended over the Great Lakes region and the extreme northern Great Plains and temperatures yesterday were in the 60s and 70s.

It also was cool along the Pacific Coast and in the central and northern plateau region and northern Rockies.

The hot belt yesterday extended across the entire southern part of the country from southern California to Florida and Alabama with temperatures generally in the 90s. Top readings included 101 at Fort Worth, Texas, Russell, Kan., and Montgomery, Ala.

Skies were fair early today over most of the country. Showers were reported in parts of Iowa, Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, while skies were cloudy in Ohio and West Virginia.

Cap Pistols Not Banned, Young Cowpokes Learn

BALTIMORE (AP)—Durned if those fellers down there in Washington didn't nearly have Maryland's young cowpokes rising up in arms.

They went and passed a law making it a federal crime to ship fireworks into Maryland.

Maryland's cowpunchers nervously fingered their cap pistols. Did it mean them?

No, suh, said Charles Mathias, an assistant attorney general. Whipping out his law books, he ruled that caps are illegal because they explode and are fireworks. But pistols don't explode and are not.

"It was a close shave," confessed Mathias.

Marion Postal Employe Takes Safety Course

Ralph B. Roseberry has been chosen to represent the Marion Postoffice in the U. S. Postoffice Department's national motor vehicle accident prevention instructor's program, Postmaster Homer Cole announced today.

Roseberry was selected to go to Columbus for a five-day instruction course in motor vehicle safety to be conducted by the department as part of the national program recently announced by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield in meeting highway life-saving objectives recently set forth by President Eisenhower in his White House Conference on Highway Safety.

Under the nation-wide program, being conducted by the Department's Bureau of Personnel under Assistant Postmaster General Eugene J. Lyons, with the assistance of the American Automobile Association — pioneers in the field of driver education, Roseberry will receive driving instructor's training. This training will consist of a comprehensive course in the techniques of safe postal motor vehicle operation.

Roseberry was selected on the basis of ability, leadership, and personality traits. This is the second major highway safety step initiated by the Postoffice Department under Mr. Summerfield.

PROSPECT SERMON THEME

Sunday morning at St. Paul Lutheran Church at Prospect the sermon theme will be "By the Grace of God" The Katherine Luther Guild will meet Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. for a wiener roast and program with Mrs. Carl Russell as hostess assisted by Mrs. Merle Thomas and Mrs. Mac Rinnert. Taking part in the program will be Mrs. Claire Keller, Mrs. Paul Dobberstein, and Mrs. Thomas. All classes in confirmation instruction will be resumed Saturday, Sept. 11.

Bible Words for Today

MATTHEW 5:16 — "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works and give glory to your Father who is in heaven." (RSV)

* * *

Traveling across the vast expanse of our nation one can see on mountain top and prairie plain the beacon lights whose shining rays point the safe course to our airplanes as they carry their precious cargoes across the land. Beacon lights! We need beacon lights as we make our way in life. What are those beacon lights of life shining crystal clear in the storm of life pointing us on our way. They are the beacon light of study. The necessity of being an informed Christian. The beacon light of prayer. The fulfilling of the soul's sincere desire. The beacon light of worship. The regularity and reward of standing in awe of God and His majesty. The beacon light of trained servants. Those who are His witnesses to the farthest reaches of the world. We too can be beacon lights if we let our lights so shine.

Spiritual Hunger

When it finally is understood that the Communist menace is the crazy climax of materialism carried to extremes the views of Billy Graham, the American evangelist, after finishing his recent trip to Europe will be given more careful attention.

Graham told United States News & World Report that his sensational pulling power during his evangelistic mission was not because of oratory or tricks of the trade. Materialism, he said, has failed to satisfy the souls of the people who come to hear him talk about a spiritual awakening. He thinks Sir Winston Churchill understood this when he said, "Our problems have gotten beyond us."

"When our intellectual leaders begin to admit that they don't know the answer," Graham explained," and that fact reaches the masses on the street, they are going to turn somewhere, they will turn to all sorts of escapisms. Some will turn to alcohol. Others will turn to religion in the want of security and peace—something to hold onto."

The spiritual hunger of people, Graham believes, is worldwide. He thinks it accounts entirely for his success as an evangelist; that he has no personal attributes which accounts for the masses of people who turn out to hear him give his messages. In a world that despairs of finding what it wants in materialism, and sees the barren climax of materialism in Communism, there is an unsatisifed hunger for Christianity. Men do not live by bread alone.

Get a Glider

Sometimes, cries of protest raised against the new kind of noise made by jet airplanes seem to be repeating the protest against the noise of the first automobiles in this country.

When the Air Force Association held its convention at Omaha a few days ago, Brig. Gen. Brooke E. Allen, Air Force public information officer, talked bluntly about the noise annoyance from jet engines. It is here to stay, he said. It is part of the price of progress. People who live close to airports would do well to remind themselves that national security is more important than freedom from noise. In short, the era of the jet airplane is here to stay, just as the era of the automobile came to stay in the early years of this century. Die-hards who jeered, "Get a horse!" finally jeered themselves into oblivion.

Objectors who tried to stop the clock by refusing to concede that the automobile was here to stay — who preferred the whinnying horse to the coughing-go-devil — have their counterparts in objectors refusing to live with the banshee whine of the jet engine.

The Rope Was Red

When the British Labor party delegation had drunk its last toast in Peiping the other day and departed on the last leg of its oriental tour, a suspecion was beginning to form in the minds of observers.

The suspicion was the possibility these men may have been encouraged to hang themselves in their own red rope. Having represented themselves in England and much of the rest of the world as socialists of the Fabian variety, they tipped their own hand by showing a strong affinity for communism of the revolutionary, blood-letting variety.

When Aneurin Bevan, the Labor party's chronic troublemaker, proved to be the belle of the ball in Peiping, with Clement Attlee elbowed to one side, there was no room left for doubt about Bevan's place in the political spectrum, his will have an effect among Britons, who previously have been able to think of socialism and their homegrown socialists as distinct from Communism and Communists.

As long as the socialists were "made in Britain," they were endowed with British respectability. But they stand revealed now as having more in common with Moscow than London.

They may rue the day they ever drank toasts with Communists in Moscow and Peiping.

Aces Back to Back

The accidental death of Capt. Joseph McConnell Jr., ranking ace of U.S. jet aviation, is an opportunity for the American people to pay an installment on their debt of gratitude to their modern heroes of the air.

There are relatively few men with the combination of skills and character that makes an outstanding fighter pilot in this supersonic age. Capt. McConnell was typical of the best of the few—a poised, philosophical family man who flew jets because he loved to fly, loved to fight and because he loved his country.

It was ironic that he died in a non-war accident after surviving a wartime tour in Korea, where he was credited with downing 16 enemy aircraft. But in one of the most hazardous jobs ever undertaken by men, there are so many things which might happen that combat flying only steps up the risk; it does not create the risk. As jets go faster and the skill of the men being trained to fly them in combat against the United States grows greater, there will need to be an intensive search for the potential McConnells of the U.S. Air Force. They will be found and trained, just as the McConnells were found and trained to follow Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, who started the legend of American mastery of the air with 26 victories over the enemy in World War I.

Disservice to GOP

Party's Anti-McCarthy Faction Alienating Voters

By David Lawrence

The morale of precinct workers and local organizations of the Republican party in several states is shot to pieces, and this may prove a major cause contributing to the loss of Republican control of both houses of Congress in the elections next November.

Letters received by this correspondent from many parts of the country tell of influential Republican party workers, including some county chieftains, who have decided to be passive in the coming campaign. Some of them say they will not even vote.

Reasons for the apathy inside the Republican party vary. Some of it is due to a lack of interest on the part of President Eisenhower, and particularly of the White House staff, in the fortunes of the regular organizations.

Some of it has arisen because the "Citizens for Eisenhower's" movement is being interpreted as a threat to discipline regular Republicans who have conscientiously adopted views differing from some of those of the President.

There is indeed a widespread feeling that, ever since the death of Sen. Taft, the so-called "liberal" wing has made a captive of President Eisenhower at the White House.

Perhaps the most serious cleavage in the Republican party arises from the mishandling of the McCarthy issue by the White House staff, whose influence is believed to be responsible for goading President Eisenhower into the position of seeking deliberately to punish the Wisconsin senator.

FOR SEVERAL MONTHS the direct and indirect attacks on Sen. McCarthy at the President's press conferences have not gone unnoticed among Republicans who feel that the Wisconsin senator has performed a service to his country by arousing public interest with respect to Communist techniques and methods of infiltration in America.

Whatever the merits of the controversy over congressional committee "methods" and however much some persons have come to dislike the senator from Wisconsin as a result of the recent televised hearings, the practical aspect from a political viewpoint is that literally millions of Republican voters think McCarthy now is being persecuted not for a few intemperate remarks and speeches made under provocation but because he fought the Communists in government.

These millions of voters include many hundreds of thousands who crossed over from the Democratic to the Republican party in several key states in the 1952 elections because they believed the Truman administration was "soft" on the Communist issue.

They have by no means been convinced that they should go back to the Democratic party, but they probably will make their protest in November by not voting at all.

The McCarthy issue is, of course, a troublesome one from any political viewpoint, and most candidates on the Republican side are fighting shy of any mention of it. The Republican candidates will suffer just the same because of President Eisenhower's part in the fight.

The fact remains that Sen. Flanders, a Republican, started the move for a formal "censure" by resolution of the Senate without the sanction of the Senate Republican Policy Committee. Then Eisenhower wrote a letter to Flanders praising his speech on censure, and the latter has since made public references to that Eisenhower letter.

Now, just at a time when the energies of the Republicans might better be spent in campaigning against the Democrats, a committee of six senators is to hold extensive hearings which will keep the McCarthy issue in the headlines throughout September and perhaps October.

FLANDERS STARED out with a demand for the removal of McCarthy from his chairmanship of the committee on government operations and of the permanent subcommittee on investigations, and then switched to a proposal for "censure." It looks now as if the Vermont senator is going to have his original wish fulfilled. According to the election outlook as of today, not only is McCarthy going to lose his chairmanship in the coming elections, but so will all the other Republican chairmen of committees in both the House and the Senate.

At the grass roots the emotional reaction to the McCarthy issue is so strong that, even if the weakest of the percentage totals shown by the various Gallup Polls as to those who are on the McCarthy side is taken as an accurate measurement today of the pro-McCarthy sentiment, it is enough to defeat the Republican party by the simple device of their not voting at the coming elections.

The feeling is bitter because the whole anti-McCarthy attack at this last session of Congress was spearheaded by the Americans for Democratic Action — which backed Stevenson in 1952 — and by an offshoot of that organization known as The National Committee for an Effective Congress. Flanders admitted on the floor of the Senate that he had been consulting with that group of New Dealers in the preparation of his charges against McCarthy.

ALL THIS is grist for the Democratic mill. Yet the Republican high command, beginning with the President and the White House staff, are doing little or nothing to heal the breach in the party, and the Democrats are doing everything they can to goad the Eisenhower staff to stir up more and more friction inside the party.

When the history of the Eisenhower administration is finally written, if there is such a thing as a medal for "distinguished political disservice," it might be awarded to the members of the White House staff and the administration officials who thought up the bright idea of a public fight with McCarthy by means of the Cohn-Schine trivialities. The anti-McCarthy controversy has served to dramatize the dissension inside the Republican party and to aggravate it to a point almost beyond repair. That's why the betting on the election of a Democratic congress is growing every day to the point where any Republicans foolish enough to bet can demand big odds.

Something of Importance

By TRUMAN TWILL

Since there seems to be a lack of things of no importance today, a switch will be made to a subject of transcendent importance — the world's food supply. It is an odd thing when you think about it, that a fellow has no trouble any more finding something so important it gives him the jitters just to think about it.

The world is, as everybody knows if he concentrates on what is important, on the verge of starvation. It always has been on the brink of starvation and has kept getting more populous in spite of this for a reason so obvious it still has been given no official recognition.

Necessity is the mother of invention. The more mouths there were to feed, the more ingenuity there has been, with the result that today more mouths are being stuffed with more food than ever before, despite the fact most of them never have been stuffed with enough to satisfy their owners.

But within the range of orthodox agriculture there is a limit to the number of mouths that can be fed with crops that depend on arable soil, natural cycles of climate, human effort, machinery and traditional methods. The limit is closer than it ever seems to be in the only country on earth with a perpetual food surplus.

But there always is the invention mothered by necessity — the same kind of invention that made it possible to go from pointed sticks to gang plows and from cythes and flails to combines and crop carryovers in the Grain Belt. The current issue of World Health Organization's Newsletter describes what might be the ultimate answer to the problem of feeding a more populous world.

It is based on, of all things, sewage. All sewage contains plant nutrients. Sewage is in everlasting supply relative to the population of the world itself. This has been the sole secret of the uncertain food supply of vast populations like the Chinese, who have used sewage to fertilize food crops for thousands of years.

But the young scientist in the University of California whose inventiveness has been challenged by the necessity of raising more food, Harold B. Gotaas, is not thinking about anything so primitive as Chinese farming methods. He is thinking about the demonstrable fact that incredible amounts of the tiny plants called algae will grow in water containing nutrients found in sewage. The biology of the phenomenon is extremely simple and widely understood. What is not so well understood is that the edible algae which could be grown in vast quantities under controlled conditions mature so quickly that men could be freed from dependence on slow-growing crops that are dependent on climate and arable land.

They could harvest a new crop every two days, 365 days a year.

To be sure, no one wants to eat algae now because no one ever has, except the creatures that inhabit the sea—and they do all right. In fact, if there were any feasible way to get the stuff out of sea water there would be enough there in natural form to feed the world. But the ocean is too big to be strained for its edible plant life.

So there you have it—the world's food supply of tomorrow. The idea should be at least as startling as once were the ideas of eating potatoes, pork, grasshoppers, snails, horses, dogs, cats, corn and rattlesnakes. Ugh. Pass the algae.

New Circus Twist

French Proposal To End EDC Dilemma

By Gen. Maxime Weygand

With the French Parliament vote expected next Tuesday, West Europe will at last come to final decision on whether it will organize a defense community. Here Gen. Maxime Weygand tells why France condemns EDC as it now stands — and proposes an alternative that would include German troops. Weygand was French Army chief of staff in 1918 and commanded the French forces defeated by Germany in 1950.

PARIS

Why am I resolutely opposed to ratification of the European Defense Treaty written in Paris in May 1952?

That is a question I am constantly asked, especially by Americans.

I am against the treaty because it is not integrated into the Atlantic Pact which I consider to be the fundamental guarantee of a European Defense Organization.

There are also specific clauses in the treaty that I am most particularly against. They are those that would destroy national military sovereignty and step into the darkness of a European Defense Community represented by a commissariat in military affairs.

This community is not integrated into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization but only required under Article V to cooperate closely with it.

Let there be no mistake. I am for everything that will favor a future European union. But public opinion is not yet ripe for that. Our greatest need today is for national unity in the face of the menace from the East. The treaty would destroy the unity of the French Army and the solidarity of the French Union.

Unity of the French Army and solidarity of the French Union would be destroyed by EDC because the European army that is proposed would be only for the defense of Western Europe. This would oblige us to maintain other troops for the defense of the French Union.

THESE TROOPS, because of financial considerations, would be less well equipped and maintained than the troops in the European army and would become their poor relations. This would be extremely detrimental to morale.

But I am for an organization of European defense forces and for the participation of German troops in this organization.

My program — which I believe to be in accord with the recommendations of Marshal Alphonse Juin, Allied commander in Central Europe, and proposals in the bureaus of the Senate and the National Assembly — is as follows:

An organization of European defense forces would be constituted within the framework of the Atlantic Pact. This coalition should form an integral part of the pact to insure harmonious working arrangements for the duration of the pact.

Let me make a comparison. Suppose my desk represents NATO. Then the European defense organization should be a drawer within it. All our efforts ought to be concentrated in reinforcing and strengthening the Atlantic Pact.

THE NATO PACT functions today without complaint. We owe to it the progress that has been made up to now in the defense of the West and the creation of a coalition of armies.

A European army is a theoretical construction without any military value. Our present coalition of armies is a reality. The victorious campaigns of 1918 — under the leadership of Marshal Foch — and that of 1944-45, under Gen. Eisenhower, conducted as they were under quite different techniques of command, testify to the efficiency of this combination of forces.

My program obliges no abandonment of national sovereignty, except insofar as each state that is a member of NATO and a member of the organization of European forces, would concede to NATO the position of a sovereign power for the duration of the treaty.

Under my plan, the organization of European defense forces would be merely a vehicle of coalition. The propulsion would come from NATO by virtue of its power of control delegated to it, by member states, of authority over all common military problems.

SUCH PROBLEMS include standardization of equipment; the sharing of armament resources; logistic support and antiaircraft defense.

Everything concerning the disposal of troops supplied by each member state, and the utilization of the resulting European defense forces should be left to the discretion of the supreme commander of the Allied powers in Europe—at the present time U. S. Gen. Gruenther, or to his delegates. In the case of Central Europe, the delegated authority is Marshal Juin.

This discretion is necessary to enable the SHAPE commander in chief to use his covering forces to the best advantage in time of peace and to assign them missions in time of war.

Much time has been lost already in discussing the European Defense Community and the European army in all its implications. On the lines I have indicated, bringing Germany into the framework of NATO through an organization of European forces, I believe we could have a swift and favorable decision.

Chums From the Cosmos

By MARK DANA

In one of our occasional departures from the solemn complexities of living, we might pause to point out that scientists have discovered two huge meteors suspended in space only 400 miles from the earth and traveling with the earth around the sun, thereby stepping up the imaginings of would-be space travelers and no doubt causing no end of worry to stratosphere aviators who never know when the masses will lunge in closer for closer neighborliness.

While astronomers have been peering at heavenly bodies millions of miles away, they seem to have missed these two big chunks just an inch or so (relatively speaking) from our globe. It often is easy, metaphorically, to perceive unpleasant things at a distance (such as naughtiness in a neighbor's children) and ignore something right at home.

It is unlikely that these two meteors which are following us as we whirl along our orbit around the sun are steered by Men from Mars who have dropped down to look us over for a spell, although one never can tell.

Maybe they are pieces of one of our continents which were hurled free a long time ago, which can't go any further and are waiting for the proper second to drop back in their original places — and meanwhile are awfully lonely out there.

Folks who have been talking with seeming wildness about space platforms, a sort of depot just outside the earth's gravitational pull, as a space-travel transfer point, now have something tangible for their plannings.

Yet with all due pride in our earth, we might wonder why these meteors, if they are free, continue to hang around this ball of confusion when they have the whole cosmos to choose from.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Happy Parading, General!

Major General Kirke B. Lawton,
Washington, D. C.

Dear General: Well, taken out of circulation early in the Fort Monmouth investigation following your warm outspoken co-operation with those exposing dangerous characters there, you are now being cancelledout in an extra fast retirement. You were passed over also on the promotion lists. Now comes the announcement of the retirement and a statement that you will get a parade at Fort Monmouth followed by a dinner and dance. That's nice. But I can think of nothing you need less.

I wish I could read your thoughts as they parade for you in marking a pre-packaged, large economy-sized farewell especially iced for a general who threw no blocks against an all-out Senate subcommittee effort to get at the truth at Fort Monmouth. I trust that, to save embarrasment all around, none of the paraders bear "the minutes of the last meeting" or a transcript of the undisputed testimony that you got the works soon after your complete co-operation with the sub-committee.

I hope that during the procession no loudspeakers blare the recording of Secretary Stevens' statement to millions of TV listeners that you are a wonderful general and that is was just a coincidence that you got the foot so fast and so suddenly.

I have written the high brass urging that the band at Fort Monmouth choose its selections carefully and refrain from playing "Love Is Like That," "Dear Old Pal of Mine," "It Had To Be You" or "Hushabye Baby."

I would not want to hear it play the "Dentist's Sonata" from the opera "It Don't Make Sense," "Bobbie Loves Me," "I Shudda Played It Safe" and "Out On a Limb" will be scratched too, I hope.

As for the dinner I suppose there will be cold cuts, which will be no novelty as you have been getting them ever since the Fort Monmouth hunt began. And, so far as dancing is concerned, you have certainly been getting a fine waltzing around if I ever saw one, so you should be in shape.

Let's see. . .what's the score in this Fort Monmouth case anyhow? Cohn out, McCarthy surrounded, Gen. Lawton out, a couple of Senate committee investigators beanballed and the dentist who clammed up on inquiries about Communist connection still doing nicely.

Well, General, life is like that. You rated better treatment after a life of loyal service to your country. I am not disputing the Army doctor's diagnosis of "circulatory ailments." But plenty of generals have them without getting cancelled out so fast.

Your circulatory ailment is obvious: your blood boils too fast in the face of slow motion against possible enemy agents in sensitive places. It ain't bad, but it can be costly.

Anyhow, best wishes and if you don't feel good during the Fort Monmouth parade don't ask for a doctor through Mr. Stevens.

Sincerely,
A TV Addict

The influence of TV, movies and other agencies featuring violent routines was reflected the other morning when a child who couldn't have been a day over five, romping around the yard with a cap postol, finally appeared below our sunporch and cried, "Mister, want your house blown up?"

At a Pine Orchard, Conn., summer hotel we observed Warren Hull, of "Strike It Rich" at a nearby table and felt a terrific impulse to rush over and say, "Look! Corn on the cob and I've left my uppers at home. I need a few hundred dollars for a plane to get them at once. Can you raise the money?"

The man reported to have designs on the life of Joseph Welch, counsel to the Army in the recent hearings, was arrested for stealing a taxi instead and denied he wanted to shoot him. Probably willing to admit no TV actor is that bad.

Joseph Foltz, Teacher, Found Dead in His Car

Joseph Allen Foltz, 29, of 376 Cherry St., teacher at Claridon High School the last five years, was found dead in his automobile at 2 p.m. Thursday at Owens Quarry.

Death was ruled suicide by carbon monoxide poisoning by Dr. Robert T. Gray, acting Marion County coroner. His body was found in the automobile which was parked off a narrow road, which extends around the quarry, by Ronald Frye of 632 Woods St. He immediately notified the Marion County Sheriff's office.

A native of Galion, Foltz had been a resident of Marion the last year after moving from Galion and had resigned his Claridon position recently. He had accepted a teaching-principal position in the Mifflin-Kirby school in Wyandot County and would have assumed his new duties Sept. 7.

He was a graduate of Galion High School in 1943 and Bowling Green State University in 1948, where he was affiliated with Alpha Tau Omega, national social fraternity. He was a leader of a Boy Scout troop for the last four years at Claridon and formerly belonged to the Church of Christ at Galion. He had been attending Emanuel Lutheran Church here.

He was a native of Galion and his parents were Charles W. and Maude Lance Foltz. His marriage to Carol Tracht of Galion was on Aug. 10, 1951 there.

The widow survives with 20-month old twin sons, James David and Joseph Dwight, at home; the father, Charles, of Galion; one brother, D. Shannon Foltz of Rutland, Vt.; and three sisters, Mrs. Paul Rorick of Galion, Mrs. Keith Baird of Paulding and Mrs. Lester Allen of Findlay.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at the Snyder Funeral Home in Galion with Rev. M. E. Hollensen of Emanuel Lutheran Church officiating. Burial will be in Caledonia Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 4 p.m. Saturday.

Surviving with Mrs. Snow are two other daughters who live near Osseo.

Funeral services will be conducted Sunday at 2 p.m. at Osseo. The family from Marion will attend.

Housewife Continues Hunger Strike at Akron

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A pretty young housewife, who changed her mind about getting divorced, started the third day of a hunger strike in the Akron police station lobby today. She vowed she would stay there until she got back $124 her husband paid a lawyer.

Mrs. Alice Mortimer, refusing even parts of the lunch pail dinners the cops brought with them, says her husband raided a teapot for her cache of funds to pay the lawyer when they decided to get divorced.

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED

An automobile stolen in Carey sometime before Aug. 24 was recovered Thursday afternoon by Marion police. They found the 1953 model car abandoned in front of 185 N. Main St. at 12:28 p.m. yesterday. The car had accumulated several parking tickets, police reported.

The Redwood Library at Newport, R. I., is the oldest continuously used library in the nation. It was built in 1747.

DEATHS and FUNERALS

Robert C. Owens

Robert C. Owens, 73, of 342 Silver St. was found dead in the rear yard of his home shortly after 9 a.m. this morning. City police reported he was dead when a Gunder ambulance arrived. Acting Coroner Dr. R. T. Gray said he died of a heart attack. The body was removed to the Boyd Funeral Home pending burial arrangements.

Robert C. Owens was born Oct. 11, 1879, in Marion, a son of Arthur and Isabelle Cratty Owens. In Marion, in 1903, he married Margaret Hatch. An electrician, he was self employed.

Surviving with his widow is a son, Harold, of Apopca, Fla. A sister and a brother preceded him in death.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday at 2 p.m. in the Boyd Funeral Home on W. Columbia St. Burial will be in Marion Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 7:30 tomorrow night.

Earl Patterson

RICHWOOD—Earl Patterson, 65, prominent Jackson Township farmer, died at 7:30 last night in University Hospital in Columbus. Ill a years and a half, he was at the hospital about two and a half weeks.

Born Jan. 22, 1889, in Jackson Township, Union County, he was the son of Chester W. and Mary Price Patterson. Feb. 27, 1915, he married Lenna White. He was a member of the Methodist Church at Essex and of Jackson Township Grange.

Surviving are his widow, his step-mother, Mrs. Susan Patterson of near Essex, and nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be conducted Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in the Essex Church. Rev. Frederick Haley and Rev. Clyde Parish will officiate. Burial will be in Price Cemetery. The body was to be removed from the Winter-Milligan Funeral Chapel in Richwood to the Patterson home where friends may call after 7 tonight until Sunday noon.

Susan Carol Short

Susan Carol Short, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Short of Twinsburg, formerly of Marion, died at 4:30 a.m. yesterday in Children's Hospital in Columbus. She was ill since birth, Aug. 5, in Marion. The parents are Robert R. and Alma Marie Roush Short, the father a native of Toledo and the mother of Marion.

Prayer services were held at 10 a.m. today in the Merle H. Hughes Mortuary on Mt. Vernon Ave. in Marion. Rev. M. E. Hollensen officiated. Burial was in Marion Cemetery.

Union Settlement Hikes Erie's Operating Costs

CLEVELAND — The "package settlement" agreement between the non-operating unions and the nation's railroads will add at least $1,200,000 to the Erie Railroad's yearly operating costs, Milton G. McInnes, vice persident for operations, said today.

This cost includes only the vacation and holiday pay allowances. The cost of health and welfare plans, also included in the settlement, is yet to be determined. The additional operating expenses are the result of negotiations conducted following the recommendations of a fact-finding board appointed by President Eisenhower which were accepted by the nation's carriers and the railroad unions representing employes who are not actually engaged in the operation of trains, Mr. McInnes said.

Approximately 13,200 non-operating employes of the Erie Railroad will benefit from the settlement which includes a health and welfare plan providing hospital, medical and surgical insurance coverage, pay for seven recognized holidays, and three weeks vacation for employes with 15 years service.

Patrol Works Fast With Tourniquet, Saves Man's Life

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Quick application of a tourniquet by a state highway patrol squad was credited today with probably saving the life of Douglas Gunnoe of (307 Cleveland Ave.) Canton, who was injured in an automobile accident near here.

Gunnoe, riding with Franklin E. Alltop, 20, of Louisville, Ohio, suffered a severed artery in his right wrist, cuts on his other wrist and lacerations over an eye as the automobile careened off the highway on a curve and overturned.

Highway patrol members said they were chasing Alltop for driving a car which had been reported stolen. Alltop, who was unhurt, was held at Middletown for further police investigation. Gunnoe, treated at a Hamilton hospital, was also held.

NO DAMAGE IN AUTO FIRE

Marion firemen were called out once during the last 24 hours. W. Center St. station firemen were called to put out an automobile fire in front of 606 Davids St. at 8:13 p.m. Thursday. They reported no damage to the car owned by Jesse Arthur of the rear of 200 Sharp St. They said the fire, caused by a backfire, was out when they arrived.

Aquatic Instruction For Adults Slated For Pool at YMCA

The YMCA announced today adult swimming classes are again open for registration in preparation for the fall and winter program. Aquatic instructional groups for beginners were suspended temporarily in June when the total enrollment of all adult classes reached nearly 200. A new series of classes will be initiated at the start of the fall program in September.

All adult swim classes at the YMCA are designed to produce competent deep water swimmers in a period of three months. Short cut methods emphasizing recreational and survival factors are utilized. Eighty-five per cent of all applicants are successful in completing the three-months plan followed in the local course.

A total of three beginning classes will be offered to women with two classes scheduled in the evening and one in the afternoon. Exact time and days of instructional groups will be determined early in September pending completion of the total program by the YMCA Physical Education Committee. All persons interested are requested to register at the YMCA by phone or in person. Only those making such application will be accepted as a total of 35 men and 100 women will be considered as limits. Persons registering for fall classes will be notified by mail as to the inital orientation period.

NOTICE—BRIDGE SALE

Notice is hereby given that sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Marion County Commissioners of Marion, Ohio, until 10:00 A.M. (E.S.T.) Sept. 20, 1954 as follows:

For furnishing all materials and performing all labor for the construction of new concrete abutments and superstructure; installing drain tile; moving old bridge and stone to county yard and making necessary changes as shown on plans and profile on file in the County Engineers Office.

Project located on County Road No. 26 section "X" over Noblet Ditch.

The foregoing being designated by the Board of Commissioners in their resolution adopted Aug. 19, 1954.

Said improvement shall be done in accordance with Ohio State Highway Specifications for 1953, for concrete bridges, and plans on file in the Marion County Engineers Office.

Quotations shall be submitted upon blanks furnished by the Marion County Engineer and shall not exceed the estimated cost of labor and material—total $8,991.40.

Sealed bids will be publicly opened on the above date, read and an award made at that or such time to which consideration of said bids may be duly adjourned as provided by law.

All bids shall be accompanied by either a deposit of money or a certified check on some solvent bank, in the amount of five per cent (5%) of the estimated cost of the improvement, made payable to the order of the Board of Marion County Commissioners as a guarantee that said bidder will sign the contract for the performance of the work and furnish bond. The bond will amount to one-half (½) of the estimated cost of the improvement, for the proper construction and completion of the contract, as required by law.

The minimum wages to be paid all labor employed on this contract shall be in accordance with the schedule of prevailing wage rates in Marion County, as ascertained and determined by the Department of Industrial Relations, in accordance with sections 4115.03, 4115.04, 4115.05, 4115.06 and 4115.07 of the General Code of Ohio.

Bids must be signed by all parties interested in the contract.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

By order of the Board of Commissioners of Marion County, Ohio.

Air National Guard Employe of Upper Hurt in Explosion

UPPER SANDUSKY — Injured Thursday in an unusual accident at Mansfield was Thomas J. Carey of Upper Sandusky, a civilian employe of the 164th Fighter Bomber Squadron, Air National Guard.

Carey suffered severe facial cuts when the plastic canopy of a jet plane was blown off as he and other employes were reinstalling the transparent cover in a hangar at Municipal Airport. He was treated at Mansfield General Hospital where his injuries were reported as painful but not serious.

The explosive was the charge installed in jet planes to automatically remove the canopy for emergency bail out. There was no record of any previous similar accident at the base and cause of the accidental discharge had not been determined.

Social Security Officials Confer Here

Crestliner Remains At Hospital; Police Still Investigating

CRESTLINE — Robert Armstrong, 25, of Crestline, is still in Emergency Hospital here today in "good" condition. He was found lying beside the New York Central Railroad tracks near the center of town about 5 a.m. yesterday.

Police Chief Ralph Taylor said Armstrong related that he was walking south along the railroad tracks as a train approached from the north. He said he believed he slipped or fell.

Dr. J. A. Agnew said Armstrong will be released within a couple of days. Armstrong is apparently not marked or bruised, police said.

2nd Youth Arrested In Theft of Auto From Mount Gilead

MOUNT GILEAD—A 1954 Ford, stolen from William Bennett of Mount Gilead last week, was recovered this week in Cincinnati where it had been abandoned.

Cincinnati police recovered the vehicle and officials from Bennett's insurance agency picked up the vehicle Monday.

Mount Gilead policemen, Keith Sterritt and Rex Bidwell went to Cincinnati Tuesday where they picked up a second youth involved in the theft. Arrested was David Doolin, 21, of Cincinnati. From Doolin, Sterritt and Bidwell recovered a rifle and a blanket belonging to Bennett. A camera and a pair of binoculars stolen from the car were not recovered.

Doolin was bound over to the Morrow County grand jury and bond set at $1,000 when he was arraigned before Mayor Emery Murphy of Mount Gilead Wednesday morning. He is being held in the county jail.

Doolin was implicated by a 17-year-old Marion youth, who was arrested in Marion last week. His case was continued in the county juvenile court this week.

Lake Central Asks Extension of Year

An application for a one-year extension of its certificate to serve Marion and other cities on its routes was filed in Washington Thursday by Lake Central Airlines.

The airline company also asked the Civil Aeronautics Board to dismiss an application of North Central Airlines of Minneapolis for approval of an agreement acquire control of Lake Central.

In asking the one-year certification extension, the company said that it would apply for a further extension after an employe group takes up its option to buy 80,954 shares or 97.48 per cent of company stock held by the Weesner interests.

This option was given the employe group June 25 on condition that the one-year extension was approved and that the application of North Central be dismissed.

The employe group reportedly is arranging for at least $250,000 additional financing for Lake Central.

PAROLEE HELD

Edward E. Scamahorn, 42, of 238 Uhler Ave. was taken into custody Thursday by Marion police charged with a parole violation. He was being held for investigation by parole officers.

DIES OF BURNS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Richard F. Klotz, 48, of Columbus died yesterday of burns received Wednesday in an explosion. The blast occurred when a spark from an electric sander ignited gasoline used to clean a floor.

Pair Pleads Guilty

Two men, charged with minor law violations, were given suspended fines and ordered out of town when they pleaded guilty in Marion Municipal Court Thursday.

Roy Harrison, 19, of Fullerton, Ky., was fined $25 and costs on a charge of being a suspicious person and Robert Griffin, 39, of Indianapolis was fined $25 and costs on a panhandling charge.

WORST NARCOTIC SPOTS

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati, Cleveland and Dayton are the worst narcotic spots in the state, the director of the Ohio Narcotics Investigation Committee said yesterday. Director Alvin I. Krenzler said his group would recommend to the Legislature harsher penalties.
